ALLIES FORCE GREEK KING FROM THRONE

BY EIGHT TO FOUR POLICE BOARD VOTE BEAVERS NEW TRIAL

Resolution by Barnwell, Seeking to Declare Former Chief Discharged by His Own Act and That of the Board, Tabled.

HEARING DATE AGAIN POSTPONED TO JUNE 26

Mayor Says Board Must Give Beavers Another Opportunity to Be Heard, as Judge Ruled He Is Entitled to It.

By a vote of 8 to 4 the members of the police commission last night decided to give former Chief of Police James L. Beavers a new trial, the date being set for Tuesday evening, June 26. The board had previously set the date of the trial for last night's meeting, but on the plea of the assistant city attorney that the city was not ready for trial, a motion again delaying the hearing was introduced and passed.

A resolution was immediatly introduced by Commissioner Barnwell calling the attention of the board to the fact that the former police chief had by reason of his refusal to accept a captaincy on the force, and his refusal to report for duty as a captain, severed his connection with the police department, and further, that the board of police commissioners had accepted his letter of refusal as the resignation of the former chief, which would obviate the necessity for a new trial, as Beavers was no longer a member of the force and could not be tried by the police commission.

Assistant City Attorney Samuel D. Hewlitt, acting for the city, took the position that Judge Bell, on whose order the case was remanded from the superior court, had not passed on the question of the board's power to discharge Ex-Chief Beavers, but had only passed on the legality of the trial.

Says Order Not Mandatory.

"I take the position that the order of Judge Bell is not mandatory upon the board," Mr. Hewlitt stated, in response to a question from the mayor; "Judge Bell did not pass upon this feature of the case."

Mr. Barnwell then introduced his resolution, which follows:

"Whereas, James L. Beavers was demoted from chief of police of the city of Atlanta to a captaincy of said force on August 3, 1915; and,

"Whereas, said James L. Beavers did thereafter in an open letter addressed to the board of police commissioners, decline to act as a captain, and did refuse to report for duty, and did then and there by such act remove himself from the police department of the city of Atlanta; and,

"Whereas, the board in meeting assembled, read, acted upon and accepted the letter of the said James L. Beavers as a refusal to report for duty and as his resignation and separation of himself from the police force of the city, thereby terminating his connection with the police force; and

"Whereas, the board of police commissioners assembled May 16, 1916,

British Troops Capture 2 Miles of German Works In Region of Messines

Gains Previously Made in Belgium by Haig's Forces Are Largely Extended by the Latest Success.

GASPARD VILLAGE TAKEN BY THE BRITISH FORCES

The Village Is Located Directly East of Messines. Violent Artillery Actions Are in Progress on the French Front.

New York, June 12.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—In the fighting zones the situation is comparatively calm, except on the British front in France, along the line held by the French troops against the Germans in the region running eastward from Soissons into Champagne and on several sectors of the Austro-Italian theater.

Sir Douglas Haig's troops have again smashed into the German front east and northeast of Messines and largely extended the gains previously made in this region. Nearly two miles of trenches were stormed and occupied by the Britishers and in addition the small village of Gaspard, directly east of Messines, was captured. Berlin reports activity by the British cavalry east of Messines during Monday afternoon, but says the attack by the mounted men repulsed and only remnants of them were able to return to their positions. The German artillery in the neighborhood of Lens and Ypres is bombarding the British line.

The artillery of the French and Germans is still active along the Chemin des Dames in Champagne. During Tuesday the French made raids on German trenches near the Butte de Mesnil and in the region of Haute Chevauchee, doing considerable damage to the positions and capturing prisoners.

Bad weather for the moment has caused some cessation in the activity in the Trentino district of the Austro-Italian theater, although artillery duels of considerable proportions continue. There has been no return of the infantry attacks on the Julian front to the east, although the Austrians have been particularly active with their big guns against the Italian lines on the Vodice and the heights northeast of Gorizia.

In Macedonia the Teutonic allies have met with repulse in several surprise attacks made against the French troops. The artillery duels continue in the Cerna bend.

TEN MILLION A DAY TO REACH QUOTA

Atlanta Federal Reserve District Must Make That Mark Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to Meet Government Allotment.

DETROIT TAKES $50,000,000; HAS FAR EXCEEDED QUOTA

"Atlanta Always Ahead" is a slogan that was born of action and has never in the past been a mere combination of high-sounding words.

Atlanta is far behind in the subscription of the $10,000,000 of Liberty Bonds allotted to her. Here is a telegram received by The Constitution Tuesday night from Detroit. What are you going to do about it?

"Detroit, Mich., June 12.—At a round-up meeting of 1,000 Liberty Bond salesmen in Detroit the Detroit board of commerce tonight announces subscriptions made to the Liberty Loan totalling over $42,500,000 against Detroit's quota of $33,000,000. Detroit's solicitors have just completed a two weeks' drive. At the end of the first week Detroit's quota was oversubscribed. Subscriptions yet to come indicate a total of over $50,000,000 for Detroit. (Signed) "H. B. WARNER, "Acting Secretary, Detroit Board of Commerce."

While the Central Liberty Loan committee, of the Atlanta federal reserve district, is hopeful of the district's making a good showing, it will take subscriptions to the extent of $10,000,000 per day from now until Friday for the district to subscribe the quota of bonds which has been allotted to it.

The central committee will meet Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank for the purpose of going over the results of the campaign so far and for exerting every effort to speed the campaign up from now until the closing time Friday at noon.

Athens Takes Quarter Million.

Governor Joseph McCord, of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, stated Tuesday afternoon that he had received a telegram from Athens stating that $200,000 in subscriptions to the Liberty Loan had been obtained there during the day, and that the total was expected to run to $250,000 before night.

The total subscribed in the district is now between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000, said Governor McCord. He expects the total by next Friday to run to between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 of the total of $65,000,000, which is the allotment for this district.

The Boy Scouts, following the meeting in Cable hall Monday night, were busy Tuesday and Tuesday night calling at Atlanta homes and urging the householder to buy a bond. They met with considerable success in the first day's campaign. All subscriptions obtained by the Boy Scoutmasters will be turned over to their troop commanders, who will give them to A. A. Jameson, who, in turn, will allot them to the respective banks through which the subscribers may desire to purchase his bonds.

Boy Scouts Active.

Although the report upon Tuesday's campaign of the Boy Scouts is not expected to be made until Wednesday morning, Scout Executive Jameson had Tuesday night received the report of Troop 10, which conducted its campaign Tuesday in the northern part of the city. This troop sold 57 bonds in 42 homes, netting a total of $4,150, and has several more prospects which will probably be landed. J. W. Setze, Jr., is scoutmaster of Troop 10.

At a meeting of Troop 12, of College Park, it was decided that the troop itself should buy a Liberty Bond. L. A. Niven is scoutmaster of Troop 12.

At the end of the campaign an honor roll is to be put up in the Boy Scout headquarters, upon which will be registered the names of each scout who buys a bond. This will be the result of a campaign of the Boy Scouts among themselves, in which each boy is to buy a $50 bond at $1 per week, and is expected to earn the dollar each week with which to pay for the bond.

The trained nurses of Atlanta met at Nurses' hall on Porter place, at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of hearing the Liberty Bonds discussed and planning to do what work they can in connection with the campaign. The meeting was in charge of a committee of which Mrs. V. H. Kriegshaber is chairman. The nurses were addressed by C. V. Hohenstein.

The cotton oil mill men and the oil mill, machinery and supply men of the south will hold their annual convention in the Atlanta auditorium beginning Wednesday and lasting through Friday. At their request upon the Liberty Loan central committee it has been arranged to have Hollins N. Randolph, attorney for the Federal Reserve bank here, to speak to this convention in one of its sessions upon the subject of the Liberty loan.

GILLESPIE NAMED MANAGER OF PARKS

Dark Horse, Who Did Not Enter Race Until Tuesday Morning, Defeats Nelson Crist by One Vote.

Dave F. Gillespie, for eighteen years connected with the parks of Atlanta, was elected general park manager Tuesday afternoon by the board of park commissioners to succeed the late P. O. Cochran.

Mr. Gillespie defeated Nelson Crist, superintendent of Grant park, on the first ballot by the close count of 6 to 5.

The vote stood as follows:

For Gillespie—Commissioner C. I. Branan, first ward; Commissioner A. N. Thom, second ward; Commissioner J. E. Belcher, third ward; Commissioner C. A. Pitts, fifth ward; Commissioner Ben Lee Crew, president of the board, eighth ward, and Councilman J. C. Little, ex-officio member of the park board.

For Crist: Commissioner E. A. Bowen, fourth ward; Commissioner W. W. Walts, sixth ward; Commissioner J. H. Porter, ninth ward; Commissioner Almond Margon, tenth ward, and Mayor Candler, ex-officio member.

Commissioner J. H. Andrews, of the seventh ward, was absent.

Almost up to the time of the meeting several members of the park board were candidates. Mr. Gillespie did not enter the race until Tuesday morning. He stated that he refrained from becoming a candidate until he was certain no commissioners would run against him.

Mr. Gillespie first became connected with the park department as foreman at Grant park, in which capacity he served two years, then being chosen superintendent of Grant park. This position he held ten years until 1911, when he was transferred from Grant park to Piedmont park. The latter under his direction has been transformed into a beautiful city park.

After the first ballot the board voted to make the election unanimous.

Mr. Gillespie is elected for the unexpired term of the late Joe Cochran, which is for one and one-half years.

He is 54 years old, is married and the father of four children. He resides at No. 458 Boulevard.

ATHENS Y. M. C. A. IS SELLING BONDS FAST

Athens, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—The Y. M. C. A. Monday started a five days' campaign to raise $90,000 for the war work, "part of it for local uses," and the big "thermometer" tonight indicated that more than $7,100 of it had been raised in two days.

ITALIAN MISSION IN ATLANTA TODAY

Will Review Training Corps Candidates and Regulars at Fort McPherson—Marconi Among Visitors.

The most impressive event of the brief stop-over in Atlanta today of the Italian war mission, which includes Guglielmo Marconi, discoverer of wireless telegraphy, will be the review shortly before noon of the 3,500 members of the officers' reserve training corps at Fort McPherson, in addition to the men of the Seventeenth United States infantry.

The review will be held on the fort parade grounds, and in plain view of the 411 interned German sailors from the Kronprinz Wilhelm. The Italians will reach the city early this morning, but will be compelled to leave for Birmingham before nightfall on their tour of the south.

Prince Ferdinand, of the house of Udine, was taken ill and will not come to Atlanta. In the absence of the prince, the ranking member will be Enrico Ariotta, minister of transportation of the Italian cabinet. Other notables included in the mission are the Marquis Luigi Borsarelli de Rifreddo, under secretary of state for foreign affairs; Augusto Ciufelli and Francesco Saverio Nitti, members of the Italian chamber of deputies; General Guglielmotti, military attache of the embassy; Cavalier de Parente, honorary secretary of the mission; John Latta Ryan and John P. S. Harrison, of the United States department of state.

United States secret service men, under the direction of Georgia's notable, Bill Nye, will accompany the mission on the special train provided by the government.

341 Airplanes Were Lost During the Month of May; 79 German and 262 Allied

Berlin, June 12.—(Via London.)—During the month of May the Germans lost 79 airplanes, while the entente allies lost 262 machines, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The statement says that 114 entente airplanes fell behind the German lines and 138 British and French machines were forced down within the entente positions.

The text of the statement follows:

"In the largely increased aerial activity during the month of May the flying corps has achieved great success in the execution of its manifold duties. Among those who especially distinguished themselves, in addition to the battle airmen and the infantry airmen, were those indispensable artillery airmen, who, admirably supplemented by observation officers in captive balloons, directed our fire and observation services. In the west, the east and the Balkans we lost seventy-nine airplanes and nine captive balloons. Of the enemy airplanes shot down 114 were behind our lines, while 148 were seen to fall beyond enemy positions. Further, the enemy has lost twenty-six captive balloons and an additional twenty-three airplanes which were compelled to land as the result of fighting."

BRTISH FORCES MAKE ADVANCE N ON 2-MILE FRONT

London, June 12.—Another advance of the British forces on a front nearly two miles east and northeast of Messines and the capture of the village of Gaspard is reported in the British official communication issued tonight.

The communication says:

"Our troops gained further groun' today, east and northeast of Messines, on a front of nearly two miles, and occupied the hamlet at Gaspard.

"We also advanced our line slightly early this morning astride the Souches river and captured 17 prisoners and three machine guns.

"The enemy's artillery has shown considerable activity during the day northeast of Gouzeaucourt and north of the Scarpe and in the neighborhood of Lens and Ypres.

"Our airplanes were active yesterday. Although weather conditions were not favorable, much useful work was accomplished. One of our machines is missing."

GERMANS REPULSE ENGLISH CAVALRY.

Berlin, June 12.—(Via London.)—English cavalry yesterday advanced against the German lines east of Messines, on the Belgian front, but only remnants returned, says the German war office statement today.

The statement reads:

"Western Front—Army Group of Crown Prince Rupprecht: In Flanders the artillery activity near Ypres and south of the Douve increased during the evening. During the afternoon British cavalry advanced against our lines east of Messines. Only remnants returned. South of Messines the attacking infantry was repulsed by a counter attack.

"The firing activity was lively in the Artois, especially in the Lens salient and south of the Scarpe valley. Near Fromselles, Neuve Chappelle and Arleux, British reconnoitering detachments were repulsed.

"Army Group of the German Crown Prince: The French yesterday made five counter attacks against the trenches occupied by us west of Cerny on June 10. All failed, with heavy losses either under our fire or in hand-to-hand fighting.

"Only north of Vailly and on the Winterberg did the artillery duel attain greater intensity, and this was limited in duration. In the eastern Champagne French reconnoitering thrusts near Tahure and Vauquois failed.

"Army Group of Duke Albrecht: There is nothing to report."

"Eastern Front: On the Dvina, near Smorgon and Baranovitchi, and especially near Brzezany, and on the Naryuvka, the fighting activity has again become lively.

"Macedonian Front: Between Presba lake and the eastern Cerna and from the right bank of the Vardar to Lake Doiran the artillery has been more active."

The official communication issued by the war office this evening says:

"Southwest of Lens British attacks failed in fighting at close range."

Deposed King of the Hellenes

KING CONSTANTINE I.

He succeeded to the throne March 18, 1913, when his father, King George, was assassinated at Saloniki. Constantine is 47 years old and is a soldier by training. Much of his pro-German feeling is attributed to his consort, Queen Sophia, who is a sister of Emperor William of Germany. Recently a movement for national defense has been started in Greece. This movement is headed by former Premier Venizelos, who has all along urged that Greece cast in her lot with the Allies. The national defense movement has assumed the proportions of a revolution, and this undoubtedly contributed in large degree to the deposition of Constantine.

Russia Will Stick, Wires London Editor To The Constitution

Cablegram From Head of Great London Newspaper Says "Russia Will Resist Attack, and May Soon Undertake Offensive."

WASHINGTON IS PLEASED BY REPORTS FROM RUSSIA

Washington, June 12.—Administration officials were greatly encouraged today by reports from Russia indicating that the troubles of the provisional government are nearing an end, and that Russia still may be counted upon as a factor in the war.

President Wilson and the cabinet discussed the situation in Russia briefly, and the opinion was general that the worst of the storm has been weathered.

Confidence was expressed that the Root commission, when it arrives in Petrograd, will be able to wield an influence that may count in the coming days.

The Russian situation seems to be working itself out gradually in favor of the allies and hope for further offensive warfare on the part of the Russian armies against the Germans is entertained in England, according to a cablegram received Tuesday by The Constitution from Editor Donald, of The London Daily Chronicle.

This message came in reply to a cable request from The Constitution to the editor of The London Daily Chronicle for first-hand information on the Russian situation, the proper direction of which is so vital to the allies' cause at this time.

The cablegram declares that influential visitors returning from Petrograd are of the opinion that not only will Russia in no way betray allied interests, but will resist attack and may in the near future undertake an offensive.

The discipline of the Russian armies is stiffening and there is an increasing desire for order among the civilians, says the cablegram.

Education Needed.

It is pointed out that there is need of a campaign of education in the principles of democratic government, and it is believed that America, owing to her acknowledged distinterested position, can be of great service in this direction.

The possibility of a renewed offensive on the Russian front is a matter of tremendous import to the cause of the allies and would certainly make for a much earlier end of the war in their favor.

The lack of activity on the Russian front has constituted the greatest handicap to the great offensives which the English and French have been car-

RUSSIAN TROOPS PROVE LOYALTY

By Sternly Putting Down Mutiny on the Rumanian Front—Government Is Rejoicing Over Conduct of Troops.

Petrograd, June 12.—(Via London.)—The forces in the army at the front which are loyal to the provisional government have had their first test of strength with disloyal pacifists and have won a notable victory. Two days ago Lieutenant General Stcherbatcheff, commander on the Rumanian front, gave an order to disband one infantry, one tirailleur and one Siberian tirailleur regiment, all of which were considered useless for fighting purposes.

Three regiments of another division were ordered to take up a new position, but refused to do so, and thereupon received an order to disband. The soldiers openly mutinied. The men of one of the regiments arrested the commander and seven officers, tore their badges from their uniforms and beat two officers, leaving one insensible on the road. A regimental committee resolved that the regiment should not move; thereupon a loyal committee of soldiers of the whole army, after deliberating with the army staff, pronounced for stern measures against the mutineers, the ring-leader of whom was named Philipoff.

A resolute general was chosen, having under his command two divisions of loyal cavalry, two battalions of infantry, one light battery, armored motor cars and airplanes, and undertook the task of suppressing the revolt. When the loyalist general had occupied positions against the mutineers he sent an ultimatum to them, demanding the surrender of the ring-leader; that they take up positions as ordered, and that they undertake to serve faithfully in the future.

The mutinous soldiers, seeing that they were surrounded, attempted to negotiate, but at the last moment Philipoff incited them to new resistance. The loyalist general immediately ordered his guns into action, whereupon the rebels unconditionally accepted the ultimatum and surrendered Philipoff and others, who were taken to prison in an automobile. The loyalist reserve troops became enraged and fired on the automobile, but their commander, in order to save the prisoners' lives, jumped into the machine, whereupon the firing ceased.

There is great rejoicing in government circles tonight over the first success in the inevitable struggle against the forces of anarchy.

The government has ordered the immediate re-examination of all men who have hitherto been exempted from military service.

PRINCE ALEXANDER NAMED TO SUCCEED KING CONSTANTINE

In Demanding the Abdication of Constantine, Britain, France and Russia Stated Crown Prince George Would Not Be Allowed to Reign.

KING AND CROWN PRINCE TO DEPART FROM GREECE

It Is Said They Will Go to Switzerland—No Disorder Accompanied the Downfall of Constantine—The Allies Were Forced to Act Because of the Pro-German Attitude of the King and Crown Prince.

New York, June 12.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—King Constantine of Greece has abdicated his throne in favor of his second son, Prince Alexander, and with Crown Prince George is to leave Greece.

The abdication was made on the demand of the entente powers, and thus ends the anomalous situation which long has existed in Greece because of the refusal of Constantine and his followers to acquiesce in full in the demands of the entente allies for the freedom of movement of their forces in and through Greece and for their safety from attack.

That the entente was prepared to move with expedition in bringing a change in the situation in Greece is indicated by the fact that simultaneously with the arrival in that country of the French Senator Jonnart, who bore plenipotentiary powers to act for the entente, came the occupation by the Italians in northwestern Greece, near the Albanian frontier, of the strategic town of Janina and by other entente forces of Elassona, in northeastern Greece, situated at the foot of Mount Olympus and near the Gulf of Saloniki.

ALLIES BANNED CROWN PRINCE WITH THE KING

Athens, June 12.—(Via Paris.)—The fall of Constantine I., king of the Hellenese, has come. In response to the demand of the protecting powers, France, Great Britain and Russia, he abdicated today in favor of his second son, Prince Alexander.

This climax in the affairs of Greece was brought about through the agency of the French senator, M. Jonnart, who has held posts in several French cabinets, and who arrived at Athens only a day or two ago on a special mission as the representative of France, Great Britain and Russia. M. Jonnart had previously visited Saloniki and other points, and he lost no time in getting into conference with the Greek premier, Alexander Zaimis. The demands of the powers respecting the abdication of King Constantine also specifically eliminated Crown Prince George as his successor, the crown prince being included among those Greeks in official life who were considered strongly pro-German.

King to Leave Greece.

Both the former king and Prince George, it was announced today by Premier Zaimis, intend to leave the

Helping to Set the Country an Example

To read through the advertising pages of The Constitution, reveals the obviously comforting fact that Atlanta is setting the country an example in the "buying as usual" program. The merchants' messages and prices are self-assertive of the fact that they have the relations between markets and merchandising thoroughly well in hand. If this fact were not true, the prices they are repeatedly quoting on the needs of the hour, that the housewife has to buy the oftenest, would be a matter of impossibility in their advertising. So, why not enjoy the solace that ad-reading in The Constitution will provide you with? When your nerves are overwrought with reading the dire predictions carried in the news dispatches about conscription slackers, bond slackers and a whole lot of other war rumblings, the advertising offers a sedative to tranquillize them, in their reassuring messages and prices.

country immediately. It is reported that they will embark on a British warship and proceed to Switzerland by way of Italy. It is presumed that Prince Alexander will take up his gingly duties with full acceptation of the ideas which the protecting powers desire to be put into effect in the government of Greece during the present war. He is 24 years of age and has been free from anti-entente proclivities.

Affairs in Greece, which several times since the outbreak of the war had seemed on the verge of a settlement, recently have taken on such an aspect of uncertainty that it became necessary for the powers to act with decision. M. Jonnart was selected to proceed to Athens for the purpose of laying before the premier the aims which France, Great Britain and Russia had with respect to establishing unity of feeling among the Greeks and greater security for the entente forces engaged in operations in the east. While he informed the premier that troops had been placed at his disposal, he appealed to that official to use his influence toward a peaceful settlement. The troops, according to M. Jonnart's instructions, were not to land until the king had given his answer.

M. Jonnart called upon Premier Zaimis Monday morning and demanded in the name of the protecting powers the abdication of King Constantine and the nomination of his successor, to the exclusion of the Diadoque (crown prince.)

M. Zaimis recognized the disinterestedness of the powers, whose sole object was to reconstitute the unity of Greece under the constitution, but he pointed out to M. Jonnart that a decision could only be taken by the king after a meeting of the crown council, composed of former premiers.

Abdication Is Announced.

It was not until 9:30 o'clock this morning that the premier communicated to the commissioner of the allied powers the king's answer in the following letter:

"The minister and high commissioner of France, Great Britain and Russia: Having demanded by your note of yesterday, the abdication of his majesty, King Constantine, and the nomination of his successor, the undersigned, premier and foreign minister, has the honor to inform your excellency that his majesty, the king, ever solicitous for the interests of Greece, has decided to leave the country with the prince royal, and nominates Prince Alexander as his successor.

(Signed) "ZAIMIS."

Prior to the announcement of the king's decision many Greeks, loyal to the crown, gathered for the protection of the sovereign. On Monday night 2,000 reservists formed a cordon around the palace in his defense, if that should be necessary, and a delegation headed by Naval Commander Mavromichaelis, was received by Constantine and pledged the devotion of the army and the people to his cause. The king's only reply was an appeal that they should remain calm.

All efforts of agitators to start a manifestation failed, and the army officers announced their intention to obey the order of the government to take no part in any demonstrations and to maintain peace.

Agitators were still attempting to operate in the streets of Athens tonight, but there were no disorders, and everything leads to the belief that there will be none.

SKETCH OF CAREER OF DEPOSED KING.

The reign of Constantine dates from March 18, 1913, when his father, George I., was assassinated in Saloniki.

Born on August 3, 1868, Constantine was educated largely by private tutors from Leipsic, which was said to have stamped upon him a permanent German influence. His military education was furthered by attendance at maneuvers in Germany. He became a brother-in-law of the German emperor by marrying the latter's sister, Princess Sophia, in 1889.

His alleged pro-German leanings, thus indicated, were not always popular with his people.

Like his father, he had his ups and downs in favor, the Greeks having been quick-changing in their likes and dislikes.

When He Became Greek Hero.

He finally became a national hero in the Balkan war of 1913, when he led an army of 10,000 Greeks to the capture of Saloniki, causing 30,000 Turks to lay down their arms. His popularity was such, as a result of this feat, that Greeks in America raised several thousand dollars with which to purchase a gift sword, inscribed: "To Constantine, the Liberator."

By the peace treaties signed after the Balkan war, Greece added a considerable stretch of Turkish territory to her domain and in December, 1913, the long-desired annexation of the islands of Crete was carried out, King Constantine himself hoisting the Hellenic flag over the fort.

With the entrance of Turkey into the European war the question of the intervention of Greece soon became to be seriously considered, but King Constantine insisted upon strict neutrality. The cabinet, headed by Premier Venizelos, which was for war on the side of the allies, finally tendered its resignation. The Greek attitude, at least so far as the war party was concerned, was largely to the effect that if Greece had no hand in the war her interests might suffer when peace was arranged.

It is said King Constantine's course in opposing the wishes of the allies was largely due to his wife, who is a sister of the German kaiser. It is said the queen openly threatened that if Greece abandoned neutrality she would immediately leave the country.

Feeling Strong Against King.

Since April there have been recurrent rumors that Constantine either would be dethroned by the entente powers or that he would abdicate in favor of the crown prince. The feeling against the king had been aroused to such an extent that a great demonstration was held in Saloniki May 8, at which the crowds cheered the speakers with shouts of "long live Venizelos," "long live the national government" and "down with the king!" The mayor of Saloniki presided and proposed a resolution proclaiming the deposition of Constantine, but the crowd insisted that the entire dynasty should be removed.

In the latter part of April the Greek charge d'affaires at Washington issued a long statement which contained a message from King Constantine categorically denying published reports tending to show that Constantine had been hostile to the allies or had expressed the hope of the success of the aims of "one of the belligerents, or to have expressed himself in hostile fashion toward one of the belligerents or had spoken in any way whatsoever in the sense of said opinions attributed to him."

The king also denied that he or his government ever harbored hostile intentions of any kind toward the entente.

The approaching climax to the situation which has long prevailed in Greece was outlined succinctly in a dispatch to a London newspaper from Athens May 2. The dispatch said:

"The king is steadily losing followers. Fifty-seven officers recently left in one day for Saloniki and the stream is continuing. Since the provisional government declared that the population of any territory seceding hereafter to the national government will not be mobilized, the last plank was knocked from under the king's feet, and it is at least most doubtful if any of the rank and file will be able to stand between him and his fate."

Crown Prince Pro-German.

There is no doubt that Prince George, the crown prince, was supplanted by his younger brother, Prince Alexander, owing to the former's well-known pro-German sentiments. Although he has taken little part as far as is known, in the turmoil prevailing in Greece, various reports have indicated that he was opposed to his former friend, Ellipherios, Venizelos, and all others who side with the entente. This feeling probably was engendered by his German mother, Queen Sophia. Last year it was said that Prince George had gone to Berlin and Vienna on important missions to the German and Austrian emperors.

Prior to the outbreak of the war the announcement was made that Crown Prince George, who also holds the title of Duke of Sparta, would marry Princess Elizabeth of Rumania, the match having been arranged by Emperor William. Later it was said the wedding had been postponed on account of the war. The crown prince is 27 years old.

"Come on Over, See My Corn Fall Off!"

"I Put 2 Drops of 'Gets-It' on Last Night—Now Watch—"

"See—all you have to do is to use your two fingers and lift the corn right off. That's the way 'Gets-It' always works. You just put on about 2 drops. Then the corn not only shrivels, but loosens from the toe, without affecting the surrounding flesh in the least. Why, it's almost a pleasure to have corns and see how 'Gets-It' gets them off in a hurry and without the least pain. I can wear tight shoes, dance and walk as though I never had corns."

"That Was a Quick Funeral That Corn Had With 'Gets-It.'"

"Gets-It" makes the use of toe-irritating salves, bundling bandages, tape, plasters and other things not only foolish, but unnecessary. Use this wonderful discovery, "Gets-It," for any soft or hard corn or callus. It is the new, simple, easy, quick way, and it never fails. You'll never have to cut a corn again with knives or scissors, and run chances of blood poison. Try "Gets-It" tonight.

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

SLACKER ROUND-UP IS ON IN GEORGIA

Federal, State and City Officials Have Joined in the Movement—First Enemy Alien Arrested—Indictments Awaited Today.

Many indictments against alleged slackers will be asked for by the United States district attorney when the federal grand jury convenes Wednesday. State and city officials are also cooperating in the nation-wide effort to bring to justice the men who ignored the registration law on June 5, and the men who made false claims for exemption.

The first arrest of an alien after the edict of government officials Monday that no more aliens were to be allowed within a half mile of any United States army reservation without a permit, came Tuesday when R. J. Dreyer, of No. 159½ Whitehall street, was arrested by a government agent and the police. He was bound over for a violation of the prohibition law in the recorder's court, and was ordered held, should he make bond, for further investigation.

The federal grand jury convenes Wednesday, at which time federal agents will probably seek an indictment of him under the registration law. Dreyer is 26 years old, and has been in this country since 1905.

Booze Find Led to Arrest.

Dreyer's arrest was brought about after detectives accidentally discovered ten gallons of booze in an automobile on the third floor of a James street garage Monday. The auto was said to be the property of Jack Farrier, proprietor of a local taxicab agency.

Farrier disclaimed any knowledge about the liquor and was ordered to find the rightful owner. He later brought in the German.

It was disclosed that he possessed no registration card and that he had not taken out his first naturalization papers. Agents of the department of justice examined Dreyer at police headquarters. He is said to be a resident of Atlantic Beach, Fla. He stated that he had intended consulting District Attorney Hooper Alexander in regard to his failure to register.

The second alleged slacker taken into custody Tuesday was M. B. Kidd, who claimed to be but 19. The police believe that the name given is an alias; that Reed Robinson is the correct name of the young man, and 25 years his right age.

Between fifteen and twenty bills against alleged slackers will be brought before the grand jury Wednesday.

"In addition to the number of indictments which we will ask the grand jury to bring Wednesday," said District Attorney Hooper Alexander Tuesday, "we are investigating instances where men have registered but are reported to have made false claims for exemption."

Slacker Squads.

Sheriff Lowry and Chief Mayo appointed slacker squads Tuesday. Both are bent on apprehending whatever slackers there are in Fulton county. Detective Sergeant George Bullard, of the police force, will head the slacker squad under Chief Mayo.

In the southern district of Georgia records of the express companies will be used in prosecuting alleged slackers. The ages sworn to in applying for liquor packages prior to the advent of the bone-dry prohibition law will be used as evidence of defendants' ages.

Earl M. Donaldson, United States attorney for the southern district, arrived from Macon Tuesday and paid a call upon the governor.

"In our district the names of the men who registered will be published for the information of the general public, with a view to having them report personal knowledge of men who should be on the list but are not," he told the governor.

"Express company records, showing where men have sworn that they are 21 years old when they obtained liquor shipments will be made, as will records where men have sworn to legal age in order to vote. Also, we are going to use public school records, showing the ages at the time of admittance to the schools."

PETROLITE SUNK BY GERMAN U-BOAT

Two Boats, Loaded With Men, Are Missing—The Petrolite Was an American Steamer and Was Armed.

Washington, June 12.—The American steamer Petrolite has been sunk by a German submarine. Consul reports which brought news of the disaster today said one boat with 18 men, the third mate and the chief engineer had been landed, and two boats with an unstated number of men were missing. The time and place of the attack was not given in the dispatches.

The Petrolite, a tank steamer, first figured in the news nearly two years ago, an attack upon her by an Austrian submarine threatening diplomatic relations between the Vienna government and the United States. The ship was shelled by the submarine, and men aboard her were wounded. The submarine sent a crew aboard the vessel and removed a large quantity of supplies. She then was permitted to proceed.

The incident was the subject of a series of notes between the United States and the Austrian government.

Petrolite Was Armed.

New York, June 12.—The Petrolite, a vessel of 3,710 tons, owned by the Standard Oil company, of New York, left here April 30 for Savanoa and Leghorn, Italy. The vessel was in command of Captain Thomas H. McKellum and carried a crew of 38 men of whom ten were Americans. The ship was armed and carried a gunner's crew.

The Petrolite was formerly the steamship Excelsior under the German flag and was transferred to American registry with other ships of the Standard Oil fleet early in the war. She was built at Stettin, Germany, in 1898. She carried oil in bulk.

According to the records of the shipping commissioner here the following were the Americans on board the vessel:

F. Feachter, mate, Templeton, Me.; B. Fredericksen, second mate, Norwegian, naturalized; Olaf Matthon, third mate, Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. C. Clark, California; J. Torrence, chief engineer, Lynwood, N. Y.; C. G. Potter, first assistant engineer, Dartmouth, Mass.; W. Hansell, second assistant engineer, New Orleans, La.; P. E. Costell, third assistant engineer, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Alex Vellaler, Greek, naturalized; Lewis Shayne, mess boy, Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. M. Sterm, wireless operator, Arverne, N. Y.; Jack Moar, Boston, and Charles Galts, New Orleans, La.

New Orleans, June 12.—Charles Hantel, of this city, stated today his son, William, 25 years of age, was a member of the steamer Petrolite's crew and he believed the second assistant engineer, whose initial was given as "U." in the New York shipping records, was his boy. He said he had not heard from his son since last March, shortly after he joined the Petrolite's crew.

Mr. Hantel said a few weeks ago he was notified by Washington that his son had been appointed an ensign in the navy, but he had been unable to communicate this information to his son.

FLORIDA FAMILY SHOWS PATRIOTISM OF HIGH DEGREE

Washington, June 12.—War department records today disclosed a remarkable case of family patriotism. Three sons of a Tampa, Fla., family are enrolled, respectively, in the regular army, the aviation corps and the officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. The mother and daughter, the rest of the family, are preparing to join the Red Cross and, in addition, the mother has offered all her property, consisting of two hundred acres of land, to the government for any purpose.

RUSSIA WILL STICK, WIRES LONDON EDITOR

rying out on the western front, and has even offered a menace to the allied lines. The lack of initiative on the part of the Russian armies since the overthrow of the house of Romanoff has released hundreds of thousands of Teutonic soldiers for service on the western front, and these men thus transferred have time and again stemmed the tide of the allied advance and made possible counter attacks of the strongest character for the purpose of recovering ground which the Germans have lost to the allies.

A still greater menace which the allies have watched with the utmost vigilance has been the possibility of Russia concluding a separate peace, thus turning the whole brunt of the German attack upon the western lines and possibly throwing upon the great storehouse of Russian foodstuffs and resources to the disposal of the Germans.

This optimistic light upon the Russian situation, therefore assumes a place of prime importance, and may prove the turning point in the resistance of the central powers.

The Cablegram.

The cablegram is as follows:

"Editor The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.: The opinion here and of influential visitors just returned from Petrograd is that Russia will not in any way betray allied interests, but will resist attack and may in the near future undertake the offensive.

"Latest information is that discipline in the army is stiffening and craving for more order among the civilians is increasing.

"There is great need of a campaign on the part of democracy in order to counteract enemy schemes and to educate the people in the principles of democratic government. America, owing to its acknowledged disinterested position, will have most influence in this missionary work.

WILSON IS DENOUNCED BY GERMAN EDITORS

For Message to Russia. Charged Wilson Seeks to Prolong Bloody War.

Amsterdam, June 13.—(Via London.) Commenting on President Wilson's note to Russia, The Berliner Tageblatt, according to a Wolff bureau dispatch to the Dutch papers, says:

"The entente countries naturally are filled with satisfaction and gratitude to President Wilson for having made himself the mouthpiece of the enemy alliance against democracy. President Wilson has practiced self-denial to such an extent that he could not have given the message a more appropriate superscription than 'Wilson versus Wilson.' But perhaps he rates the judgment of the representatives of the Russian people insultingly low when he believes that they will not grasp the meaning of this tight rope performance by Franco-British order with the object of detaching the Russians from their standpoint.

"If the Russian faculty to distinguish the real from the unreal isn't dead, then President Wilson will experience the truth of the saying that 'Fine words butter no parsnips.'"

The Vossische Zeitung, under the caption, "War Message of a Peace President," says the "turgid phrases are so foreign to the German nature that the German mind cannot understand how one can honestly enthuse over the fraternization of men, and yet simultaneously seek to prolong a most horrible war. But perhaps even this could be passed over if one could look beyond the purpose of President Wilson's communication to the Russian government. Does Wilson write to Russia to hasten the advent of peace? No—to prevent peace!

"From the chaos of the Russian revolution there has arisen a lasting and glowing feeling, namely, a strong will for peace. England clings to stolen territories. France dare not admit to a deceived people that Alsace and the rest of the left bank of the Rhine must remain German.

"Many Russian revolutionaries may have gazed longingly toward the American strand where the great peace apostle Wilson dwells. Will he come to their aid? No! He stabs them in the back. This peace preacher sends a message proclaiming war to the bitter end and warning against extending the hand of peace across the frontier."

Vorwaerts says: "This newly converted zealot has preached war to a nation which is tired of butchery and longs for human kindness. Wilson wants men to go on butchering each other for years, and then finally fraternize. How many will be left for that celebration?"

Germania says: "To bring the Russians finally to reason, the entente now has sent the democratic Wilson into the field. Now in the last instance they aim to frustrate the international socialist conferences, especially the discussions on war aims. May they be bitterly disappointed."

SOCIETY

Miss Allie Candler Weds Dr. Sam Guy, of Arkansas.

Judge and Mrs. John S. Candler announce the marriage of their daughter, Allie Garnier, to Dr. Samuel Guy, of the University of Arkansas, on Tuesday evening, June 12, at 6:30 o'clock, at their home in Druid Hills.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Warren A. Candler, the bride's uncle, and the attendants were Mrs. John S. Candler, matron of honor; Miss Elizabeth Hightower, maid of honor; Dr. W. M. Dunn, best man; little Miss Virginia Elmer, of Baltimore, ring bearer, and Masters John Candler and Bob Candler, pages, the three little folks all kinspeople of the bride.

She was given in marriage by her father, and there was present only the family party, with the few friends who were attendants, and a group of young ladies—Miss Laura Margaret Hoppe and Julia Anderson, of Marietta, and Miss Augusta Skeen, of Decatur, who served punch at the buffet supper which followed the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in her wedding costume, the gown a filmy model in white net combined with filet lace, and her tulle veil was draped from her pretty hair by tulle roses. She carried a white prayer book, showered with valley lilies.

Mrs. Candler was a charming picture in white net and lace. Miss Hightower was gowned in pink tulle and her flowers a shower of pink sweetpeas.

Little Miss Elmer wore pink tulle, and she bore the ring in an old-fashioned bouquet of sweetpeas. The pages were smart figures in white.

The spacious reception floor had elaborate and artistic decoration in palms and all the flowers of June, with rambler roses and sweetpeas in the ascendant, and the scene of the ceremony was the central reception room, out of which the other apartments open. Garlands and jars of roses with a wealth of foliage plants embowered the room and made the appropriate setting for the ideal June wedding.

After the service of a dainty supper, Dr. and Mrs. Guy left at once for their home at the university in Fayetteville, Ark.

No formal announcement had preceded the marriage, and the engagement was known only to a few friends, but the prominence of both young people and their large acquaintance will make the announcement of their wedding one widely interesting.

The bride is the only daughter of Judge and Mrs. Candler. Her father one of the most prominent citizens of Atlanta, and one of the leading lawyers in Georgia, and she is a niece of Bishop Warren A. Candler and Mayor Asa G. Candler. She is an A. B. graduate of Agnes Scott college, and a young woman whose lovable qualities combine strength and charm. Her acquaintance with Dr. Guy dates from a trip abroad while she was still in college, the meeting taking place on shipboard when he was on his way to continue his studies in Germany, after graduating at Davidson college, and taking his degree as Doctor of Philosophy at Johns Hopkins. He is professor of chemistry at the University of Arkansas.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were his mother, Mrs. Guy, and his sister, Mrs. Gregg, of Rockhill, S. C.

James Philip DeBevers Kaye, dean of the cathedral, read the marriage office. Several hundred guests witnessed the ceremony.

Miss Zahner was attended only by two little girls, her cousin, Susie Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder, and Barbara Kaye, the daughter of Dean and Mrs. Kaye.

"The wedding," said The Journal, "was of much interest in society circles, as Miss Zahner is one of the prettiest and most attractive young women of Topeka. Mr. and Mrs. Peer left for a wedding trip east and, on their return, will be at home with the bride's parents for the summer.

Picnic to Atlanta Soldiers.

Plans for a basket dinner to be given at Lakewood on the Fourth of July in honor of the Fifth regiment, Company L, Battery B and the Field Hospital company, made the most important feature of the meeting yesterday of the sponsors for the Atlanta soldiery, an enthusiastic gathering held in the chamber of commerce hall.

Colonel Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore presided and interesting reports were made by the four majors—Mrs. P. J. McGovern, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., and Miss Nan Stephens, and by Mrs. Arthur Powell, representing Troop L.

Especially noteworthy was Mrs. McGovern's account of the beautiful luncheon given by Captain Hal Morrison, of the machine gun company, to their sponsors, and Miss Stephens' description of visits made by the sponsors in her battalion to the detachments on guard at bridges near the city and of the excellent "housekeeping" which is being done by these soldiers on duty.

Mrs. John Evans, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced the plan of her committee to provide some kind of entertainment once a week for the men, as soon as they are established in their new quarters.

Mr. Beaumont Davison, of the Southeastern Fair association, appeared before the meeting to express the enthusiastic pleasure of the association in the proposed picnic to be given the soldiery by the sponsors on July 4, and he assured them of the exclusive use of one of the fair buildings for the purpose.

Colonel Orville Hall was present and expressed the cordial interest of the soldiery in the picnic plan, and in every token of interest extended the men.

A number of the ladies then told of their observation of the enthusiasm of the soldiery in the idea of having sponsors, and their cordial response to the efforts of the sponsors to show their interest.

Little Miss Jacqueline Moore was received with applause when she was introduced by Mrs. McGovern as the mascot of the Fourth battalion sponsors; George Forrester, Jr., was announced as little Miss Charlotte King for Battalion 2, the mascot for the Second battalion, and Ion 4.

At the request of Mrs. Moore, Mr. Wardlaw, chairman of the Liberty Bond committee, appeared before the meeting and explained to the ladies the meaning of the bonds and the method of buying them.

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, chairman of the woman's board of the Southeastern fair, invited the sponsors to the Fair association celebration on July 4th at Lakewood, and Mrs. Moore proposed that the sponsors secure a booth at the fair in the fall, this to be a patriotic exhibit of the handwork of the sponsors. The suggestion will be turned over to a committee to develop it.

The next meeting will be on Friday, June 29, when all sponsors are expected to report how many dinners they will provide in their picnic baskets.

Jackson-Pelham.

The marriage of Mrs. S. F. Jackson and Major P. Pelham, of Poulan, Ga., was quietly solemnized Monday morning at 11 o'clock in the apartments of the bride's son, Mr. W. F. Winecoff, at the Hotel Winecoff. Rev. J. Sproul Lyons, D. D., of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

For Mrs. Evans.

The house throughout was fragrant with sweetpeas, which were arranged in baskets and low bowls. In the dining room only the pink and white blooms were used, the table centerpiece a silver basket of the flowers, and other silver baskets were at each end. The placards were kewpie brides holding original toasts, and a wedding cake embossed in sweetpeas was cut for the ring, the thimble and the dime.

Mrs. Palmour wore a becoming Georgette crepe in gray-green embroidered Her guests were:

Miss White, Miss Mary de Garmo and Miss Margaret de Garmo, of St. Louis; Misses Theodosia Willingham, Dodo White, Essie Roberts, of Fairburn; Mrs. Ashby Hill, Misses Eleanor Pinkston, of Greenville, Ga., Claudia Potter, of Paterson, N. J.; Mrs. W. Woods White, and Mrs. Jefferson Potter, of Paterson, N. J.

Assisting in entertaining were Miss Elva Crenshaw and Mrs. J. L. Ward.

R., to attend Flag day exercises Thursday, June 14, at their chapter house, Piedmont avenue, at 4 o'clock. Please show your patriotism by being present.

The meeting at Craigie house last Friday for Red Cross sewing was well attended, the ladies taking up the work with enthusiasm and a number of garments were finished. This week, Friday, June 15, another meeting will be held from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., and all members of the chapter and their friends are asked to attend to help with this patriotic work. RED CROSS NOTES

The following note was received by Mrs. Richard W. Johnston, chairman of the Red Cross workroom Monday:

"In appreciation of the inspiring efforts of our first teacher, Dr. Gerald Selby, who is now somewhere on the front, and in thanking Dr. Bagett for so untiringly taking up the work of helping us to be of real service to our country, we present to the Red Cross chapter of Atlanta one dozen sheets.

"RUBY LACY,
"Secretary First Aid Class No. 39, Y. W. C. A."

For today (Wednesday) the workroom supervisor is Mrs. George Howard. The directors for both morning and afternoon are Mrs. Louis Olsan, Mrs. H. B. Odell, Mrs. L. L. Halle and Mrs. R. K. Rambo.

A caller at headquarters yesterday wanted to help each month and made out a check for an amount which he promised to repeat monthly. A fine example. Memberships are needed. One dollar a year. Send names to Mrs. Albert Thornton, secretary.

The workroom committee has decided that it will not be obligatory to have the all-over aprons worn when the workers wear wash dresses. Many requests have come to omit the aprons since the warmer days are on.

The packing rooms at headquarters are most interesting these days. Packages, rolls, bundles are all making ready for the big chests in which they are to be stored and prepared for sterilization. If Atlanta women realized how many of these packets are needed for the base and field hospitals, and how utterly the doctors and nurses and the wounded men are dependent on these correctly fashioned surgical dressings, there would not be many idle fingers these summer days. There is a way for every woman to help.

There are many visitors to the workrooms, 15 Peachtree, but still there are many hundreds of Atlanta women who have never dropped in to see what is going on there and what the Red Cross is actually doing. To all citizens, men and women, an urgent invitation is given to call. The workrooms are open all day and there are some evening classes. You will be welcomed at any time.

FEAR OF RUSSIA WANES.

Day by day the undisguised fear on the part of the allies lest Russia, in the heat of intoxication by its newly-acquired freedom, will break its covenant with the entente and prove a frowning barrier to the conquest of Prussianism, is happily and unmistakably on the wane.

Each succeeding report bearing upon the Russian situation, while in no sense indicating that all danger is past, is of a nature reassuring and adds substance to the hope that all will speedily come well.

A strikingly encouraging note is struck in a cablegram which The Constitution presents today from the editor of The London Daily Chronicle, in which he says that the general opinion in the British capital "and of influential visitors just returned from Petrograd" is that "Russia will not in any way betray the allied interests, but will resist attack, and may in the near future undertake the offensive."

The welcome assurance also is given that "the latest information is that discipline in the army is stiffening, and the craving for more order among civilians is increasing." These are the two elements, lack of which since the overthrow of the czar has constituted the crux of the Russian peril.

As the London editor also points out, the paramount need of the Russian masses is education "in the principles of democratic government," and he well says that "America, owing to its acknowledged disinterested position, will have most influence" in imparting this education and in the missionary work that is necessary to reassure the peasants and counteract the schemes and wiles of the German conspirators and plotters with which the Russian tissue is honeycombed.

President Wilson's communication to the new Russian government, made public Sunday, has proven a powerful opening gun in precisely that sort of a campaign; and the manner in which it was received by the Russian public and press could not have been more auspicious of its ultimate effectiveness. It reassured the hesitating Russians; it gave them precisely the confidence they wanted and that was needed to bolster them. They liked it. They are in a mood to profit by it.

Then for Great Britain, called upon in turn for its statement of war aims, to have replied as it did simply by virtually a tacit indorsement of President Wilson's statement, not only constituted a well-timed display of wise statesmanship, but added immeasurably to the weight and effectiveness of the American message.

The remaining work that needs doing along this line in Russia, so far as it is America's part to do it, may safely be entrusted in the hands of the American mission, which is now in Russia.

Indeed, there is every reason to feel encouraged over the shape the Russian situation is daily assuming. The Russian heart is all right; the Russian desire and the Russian will are all right. Education, acquaintance with fact and history, and confidence, are all that are needed to convert Russia from a peril back again into a most potential and dependable ally.

And, as The Constitution repeatedly has said before, if Russia does not realign itself steadfastly and aggressively with the cause of world progress and democratic freedom, it will reveal the first instance in history of a revolution's moving backward instead of forward.

A RECORD OF EFFICIENCY.

The public stands in admiration before the man who does what he has to do and does it well, just as it has scant patience with the shirker or the bungler.

For that reason every Georgian has cause to feel proud of the public officials responsible for the splendid manner in which the military registration job was handled throughout the state.

The task of registering Georgia's quarter of a million young men between 21 and 31 years of age was accomplished without a hitch. From morning until night in every registration precinct in the state, urban and rural, the business went on like clockwork and within thirty-six hours after the closing of the "polls" practically every county in the state had reported its total registration, enabling Georgia to be among the first states to report to Washington.

Of course, every subordinate official in the state having a hand in the work is deserving of praise for his part so well performed in almost every instance; but the master hand of it all in Georgia was that of Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash.

General Nash was the man in command. Upon him devolved the work of organizing the state's forces, instructing the various registration officials and clerks in every detail, and he was the man who would have been held personally responsible had the job been botched.

Therefore, it is he who is deserving the chief and unstinted praise because it was so well done. He again proved himself to be the right man in the right place, just as he did upon the recent occasion when the Georgia national guard was ordered to mobilize for service on the border.

THE ARMY BONE DRY

In respect to liquor-drinking privileges the United States army today is the dryest it has ever been in the history of the republic. Legally, and to all intents and purposes, the army is bone dry.

Interpreting the "liquor clause" of the conscription bill, approved by the president May 18, and concurrently becoming effective, Attorney General Gregory has ruled that it is unlawful to serve—sell or give—a drink of any form of intoxicant to any soldier in uniform, which makes the army bone dry while on duty; and the occasions when a soldier will be found in civilian garb will probably for many months to come be exceedingly rare.

That paragraph of the conscription bill which relates to the liquor traffic, and which has escaped general attention, largely because of the overwhelming interest attaching to the major theme of the act, reads as follows:

> That the president of the United States, as commander-in-chief of the army, is authorized to make such regulations governing the prohibition of alcoholic liquors in or near military camps and to the officers and enlisted men of the army that he may from time to time deem necessary or advisable, provided that no person, corporation, partnership or association shall sell, supply or have in its possession any intoxicating or spirituous liquors at any military station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's club, which is being used for military purposes under this act, but the secretary of war may make regulations permitting the sale and use of intoxicating liquors for medicinal purposes.
> It shall be unlawful to sell any intoxicating liquors, wine, beer or ale to any officer or member of the military corps while in uniform except as hereinafter provided (the medicinal purposes clause).

The stated purpose of this provision is to reassure parents of recruits drafted into the service that their sons will be, so far as possible, safeguarded against the temptations heretofore ordinarily surrounding a military camp; but the actual effect will be to prohibit all members of the army, seasoned regulars as well as raw recruits, from drinking while in uniform. Nor is there any distinction made between officers and enlisted men.

The act itself, be it noted, is silent as to the giving of liquor to a uniformed soldier; but the attorney general supplies that deficiency in his ruling that the law contemplates "treating" as well as the sale of liquor. And he holds furthermore that the law can not be evaded by the uniformed soldier's buying a non-intoxicating drink and exchanging it for one containing alcohol.

Thus every loop-hole seems to be effectually plugged, and the United States army is dry!

Nor is it likely that there will develop any widespread dissatisfaction with the new regulation. Certainly it will be better for the non-drinking young recruit to be thus sequestered from habit-forming temptation, and the average seasoned regular is of such stuff that it is not likely he will worry much over the curtailment of the long-enjoyed, often-abused liquor drinking privilege.

The soldier who drinks knows better than anyone else that a drunken man is a mighty frail reed; he knows better than anyone else that an army to be efficient must be sober; he knows better than anyone else that alcohol is the worst stuff in the world upon which to train and harden the muscles of recruits.

Uncle Sam's soldiers put patriotism and national success at arms first in the equation, and for that reason, if for no other, there is little likelihood that any of them are going to strenuously object to the anti-grog regulation.

Anyhow, the folks at home can be assured that our battles will be fought, and won, by sober men.

"Our airships do just what it is intended they should do," is another German claim. So it's easy to fix the responsibility for the killing of women and children.

That rich feeling on pay day would be all right if pay day came every day.

About the most precious article a young man caught in an Atlanta poolroom can have about him when he sees a cop a-coming is a certain little bit of blue pasteboard, properly worded and signed!

And there's the backyard garden with a front place in the sun.

The Chicago News notes that "turkeys are now cheaper than for some time past." But they can wait. What we're a-wanting is to get where bacon won't hog the market.

Hindenburg told the Kaiser he had "stopped the British offensive." What he meant was that he had given it a fresh start.

Many were called on June 5, and now it remains to be seen how many will be chosen.

Reason the Russian bear wabbles so is that it has a bad way of pawing up the ground it stands on.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

By Frank L. Stanton

Chillun, Tote Yo' Load!

Hot times now in Georgy lan',
Sun a-climbin' higher,
Jumpin' f'um de fryin'pan
Right into de fire!

Hot times, an' hotter
Comin' 'long de road,
But rise an' run
Wid de risin' sun,—
Chillun, tote yo' load!

Hot times now in Georgy lan',
Col' Win' done gone by;
Brimstone in de burnin' san',
Lightnin' light de sky!

Hot times, and hotter
Than what you ever knowed,
But rise an' run
Wid de blazin' sun,—
Chillun, tote yo' load!

Nuggets by the Wayside.

If you don't work the land, purty soon there'll be "the devil to pay"—an' you won't have a dollar!

The Lord will provide, but just remember that Providence works with the man who is himself a provider.

The little things are the great happiness-makers. Even if you had the world in a swing you'd get tired swinging it.

Get acquainted with Heaven by degrees, so if you happen to land there, by mistake, you'll be able to recognize it.

The Climbing Corn.

I.

Don't want that corn
For to grow so high
That its silky tassels
Will sweep the sky;
That I'll spend my time
Huntin' ladders to climb
'Fore the dinner bell is ringin'

II.

But I want that corn
For to show its head
Somewhat higher
Than the table's spread,
Till the harvest-sky
Sees the barns plied high
When the dinner bell is ringin'.

What His Scrapbook Tells.

From the philosophy of Festus Pester, in The Kansas City Times:

"I take down my old scrapbook, wherein I have pasted certain clippings, to the number of about six thousand. Among them are references to gents who elope, relate meteorological reminiscences of the years agone, tote amulets to ward off pestilences or boast of their distinguished ancestry; items about men who blow down the muzzles of guns, race with limited trains for railroad crossings and insist upon advising the president; and many others of their silly ilk. When I have perused the battered tome for an hour or so I feel greatly refreshed, for I realize that I am not more than half as big a fool as other people seem to think I look."

The Morning-Way.

I.

One sunbeam makes the Day,
The blue sky o'er the gray,
And heart and hand for toiling time,
And take the Morning-way.

II.

Toil while toil ye may
To harvest's golden day,
For Toil gives here the answered prayer,—
Take the Morning-way.

Still, He Doesn't Want the Earth.

"Our wife is contemplating a visit next Saturday," says the editor of The Bearden Courier, "and should she go we will be minus a cook for a few days. We require our meals as follows: Breakfast at 5 a. m., hot cakes, coffee and three poached eggs; dinner at 12 straight up, two eggs the same, cornbread, roast beef and strawberry shortcake as dessert; supper at 6:15, at this meal we require fried Irish potatoes, ham and eggs and a cup of coffee like mother used to make. No invitations turned down."

After long delay,
But here's the road, Miss Summer,—
You needn't burn your way!

"Take the Loan."

The San Francisco Chronicle says that as far back as 1861 Edward Everett Hale wrote a poem which began—

"Come, freemen of the land,
Come meet the great demand,
True heart and open hand—
Take the loan."

It has the right ring at this time, and the ready dollars should jingle an accompaniment!

Skyline Sketches of Atlanta Life

Stenciled by Ralph T. Jones.

On the records of the police department, the following record for the information of police and detectives is inscribed:

"Stolen (from a certain lady who resides not a great ways from Atlanta), a tan suit case, from an automobile, containing the following list of articles: One bottle of Chionia medicine, 1 box of face powder, 1 man's collar, size 15; 1 pair of white canvas slippers, 1 pair of gray bedroom slippers, 3 union suits, 2 shirts, a corset cover, 1 bunch of white ball fringe, 2 wire coffee strainers, 1 metal cap holder, 2 pairs white silk hose, 2 night dresses, a silk shirt waist, a net waist with black chiffon covering, 6 squares with button holes in each corner, 2 bottles of perfumery, a powder puff, one bar Ivory soap, 1 wash rag, white; 1 thermos bottle and a dog collar."

And a notation beneath: "Detectives are instructed to look out for and find the above articles."

Select Society At Police Matinee.

There was a very select audience at the police matinee yesterday afternoon, when 124 prominent citizens appeared for trial on the charge of having violated the traffic ordinance. These 124 included lawyers, doctors, dentists, merchants and clerks. There were present as defendants four or five city officials, and Mayor Candler was there looking after his chauffeur who had been arrested.

The police had made a raid against those who had failed to dim their automobile lights at night. That is, 124 citizens had neglected to "douse the glim" as required by law. For once Atlanta, the city that sets upon a hill, had too much light.

In all the cases, except a few which were dismissed, fines of $1 and costs were imposed, and they were all promptly, if not willingly, paid.

The session of the police court Tuesday afternoon lasted until nearly night. Nearly two hundred cases were tried, all told. It was one of the largest courts that has been held since the bone-dry law cut out some of the drunks with their trimmings.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

RESULTS FROM TONSIL REMOVAL.

It is the practice at one of the greatest hospitals in America, which has world-wide fame for scientific work, to regard the simply enlarged tonsils and adenoid bodies in children as physiological. If there is no marked mouth-breathing, no evidence of damage to the hearing, no enlargement of glands in the neck, or no other obviously pathological effect present, the removal of adenoids is not recommended, regardless of size or appearance. This is good practice in spite of the wholesale and cordial condemnation of simply enlarged tonsils by hurried, ill-paid medical inspectors in the public schools.

On the other hand, a great many people of all ages suffer severe and seemingly incurable systemic effects of focal infection resulting from neglected diseased tonsils.

In a study of 1,000 cases of tolsillectomy under the most perfect surgical conditions, Drs. Crowe, Watkins and Rothholz arrived at certain conclusions which may be worth quoting.

They believe that the tonsils should not be removed during acute tonsilitis. It rarely proved of benefit in very chronic, deforming types of joint disease, and sometimes proved detrimental. It should not be done during the acute stage of chorea (St. Vitus' Dance), rheumatic fever (articular or inflammatory rheumatism) or endocarditis.

These investigators feel that better results are obtained from the removal of diseased tonsils in cases of joint trouble in which tissues surrounding the joints, and muscles are involved in the "rheumatism." In the early stages of some cases of nephritis dependent upon tonsil disease the operation of complete removal is also a great help.

When there are enlarged glands near the angle of the jaw which fail to subside after careful treatment of the teeth, the removal of the tonsils should be considered, particularly if the patient also exhibits some systemic disorder.

From their studies of the question they think that a partial removal of the tonsils, which may occlude the crypts or drainage canals of the remaining tonsil tissue, is not unlikely to make conditions worse than before, and hence the operation should be skillfully performed if at all.

To this conclusion of the eminent authorities quoted it may be added that many of the most troublesome tonsils are submerged, scarcely visible to the eye; and many of the most healthy tonsils are very large and prominent in the throat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

First Aid for Quinsy.

I have had quinsy several times, and think I can tell when it is about to develop. Is there anything in the way of treatment which would ward off an attack which threatens, or materially mitigate its severity? (H. R.)

ANSWER—In some cases the immediate swabbing of the throat with a strong solution of silver nitrate—which, of course, only a doctor can safely manage—seems to abort an attack, provided you catch it early enough. In general, go to bed, take an active cathartic, a hot mustard footbath in bed, and cold wet compresses to outside of throat, changed every five minutes. Why have quinsy? The diseased tonsil or tonsils should be removed. Not only to stop the quinsy attacks, but to prevent the future "rheumatism," valvular heart disease or other results of infested tonsils.

Chocolates Make Her Heart Go Pit-a-Pat.

I am a girl of 22. Whenever I eat candy, especially chocolates, my heart beats very rapidly. I have been subject to indigestion for about three years. Can you explain this unpleasant heart action? (D. M. C.)

ANSWER—Chocolate candy is famous for its power to reach the heart of a young woman. Chocolate itself exerts a mild nerve and heart stimulation like coffee. The condition which causes the indigestion may account for the irritability of the heart. Candy should be taken only as dessert, not nibbled all the time.

Bran Bread for Mothers.

I thank you sincerely for your good letter to me and for your kindness in writing my son. I may never know just what you said to him—he is very reticent—but I know it will do good. I am a nurse, and I have found that by feeding young mothers bran bread instead of white bread that we can do very well without cathartics. My present victim serves it with tea to her guests!

ANSWER—Poor, credulous folk that we are, discarding the bran from the wheat—and about 40 per cent of the nutriment besides—and then complaining because flour is so costly, and eternally swallowing the Great American Pill.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. The names of writers are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column; but all inquiries will be answered by mail if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, care of The Constitution.

GA. EXEMPTION BOARDS FORWARDED TO WILSON

With but six substitutions, despite the many requests of sheriffs and county clerks to be relieved from service upon the county exemption boards, Governor Harris Tuesday forwarded to President Wilson his nominations for the county and city boards of exemption before whom Georgians called to the colors through the selective draft law may appear for exemption from service.

These exemption boards for the counties will be composed of the sheriff, the clerk of the superior court and a physician.

Seven boards have been nominated for the city of Atlanta, and two boards each for the cities of Savannah, Macon and Augusta.

ATLANTA ELKS WILL STAGE HUGE FLAG DAY DEMONSTRATION

A tremendous patriotic demonstration will be staged by the Elks of Atlanta Thursday night at the Baptist tabernacle on Luckie street, when they convene for their annual Flag Day exercises, at which the general public is cordially invited to be present.

The tabernacle will be gorgeously decorated in American flags and streamers of the national colors, and the cream of local talent will take part in the patriotic features with which the program abounds. State Senator Sam L. Olive, one of the best known orators of Georgia and past exalted ruler of his lodge of Elks, will deliver the principal address of the occasion and he will be introduced by Walter P. Andrews, past exalted ruler of the Atlanta lodge.

Rabbi Brother David Marx will represent the order in paying a glowing tribute to the American flag, and Mayor Asa G. Candler will deliver an address on "Individual Patriotism."

Other features of the program will be a beautiful ritualistic ceremony by the officers of the lodge; the recitation of the history of the flag by Miss Regina Rambo, of Marietta, and the recitation, "Your Flag and My Flag," by Mrs. W. C. Jernigan, who won much applause with this recitation at "Romantic Revue" at the Atlanta theater last season.

Aside from the addresses, a number of patriotic musical numbers have been arranged which are sure to please.

The Flag Day program will start at 8 o'clock promptly and will be partly in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Atlanta lodge of Elks.

Georgia to Ship Lumber To U. S. Camps in France

Georgia is preparing to ship lumber to a port in France, to be used, under United States government contract, for the construction of cantonments in that country for the American army.

The Flynt-Golucke company, of Crawfordville, has taken a subcontract to supply, through the J. S. H. Clarke Lumber company, of Wadesboro, N. C., one million feet of selected lumber for export at once. The port from which the lumber is to be shipped is designated in the contract, as well as the point in France where it is to be landed, but that fact is being withheld for obvious reasons. Following the original contract, of which a million feet has been apportioned to the Georgia concern, a call has been made for a second supply on which the same Georgia concern is asked whether or not they can supply another million feet of the same class of lumber.

United States Forever.

By Benjamin M. Blackburn.

'Tis the world-war for us forever and aye!
So long as dread despot coerces the way,
We'll meet him in battle, by night and by day!
At every dark turn in the awful affray,
We'll meet him and fight him, that man may be free!
It is U. S. ever for you and for me!

To the front then we go, for mother and son!
To give the foe battle till victory is won!
The tyrant we'll fight till going of the sun!
Till the cannon mouth belches: "Work is well done!"
So it is war we'll wage, till men are all free!
It is U. S. ever for you and for me!

To the trenches we will go, for freedom or death!
There's nothing in life like liberty and life!
There's nothing in death like the home and the wife!
There's nothing like glorious man in the strife,
Till the wife, the home and the lover are free!
It is U. S. ever for you and for me!

CHORUS.

Follow the flag—the red—white—and blue!
Give lance to the hilt ye lovers true!
Tell all the world of America's stand!
For the freedom of men—for Freedom's land!
For the United States forever.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12, 1917.

Henry L. Bennet, 19 years old, of 16 Dargan street, who recently enlisted in the United States army, is wanted by navy officials for desertion, according to advices received at the police department asking the police to assist in apprehending him. He enlisted April 23, 1917.

W. C. Rossette, a negro, proprietor of a grocery store at 56 Ridge avenue, has asked the protection of the police department as a result of three fires recently started in his home and store by what he believes to be enemies bent on destroying his property. Monday night the police were called to his house to extinguish a small blaze, it being the third call of the kind in a month and a half.

A number of limestone crushers appeared before the state railroad commission Tuesday and urged that the scale of freight rates on crushed limestone in Georgia be lowered, in order that the farmer might have the benefit of a lower rate for this fertilizing material for his fields and the producers might have the benefit of any increased demand resultant therefrom. The commission has the petition under advisement. The crushers were represented by Attorney Ernie Adamson.

Fraternal Societies Urged to Buy Bonds

F. B. Caughlan, state agent of the Modern Woodmen of America, makes an earnest plea to the fraternal organizations operating in Atlanta and in the state-at-large to invest their savings in Liberty Bonds. Monday night, before a large crowd of fraternalists, he stated that he was not only urging the other fraternal societies to show their loyalty by investing in the Liberty Bonds, but that the society which he represents in this state had been the first organization in Georgia to respond to the government's appeal to the American people to invest in these bonds.

Continuing, he said that the fraternal orders that bought these bonds were living up to their principles. The advocates of fraternal protection have long insisted that their organizations are practical brotherhoods in which the principles of co-operation, benevolence, charity and brotherly love rule, and that this war had already given them the opportunity to demonstrate the correctness and truth of their claims.

CAMP AT SILVER LAKE TO GET BIG WATER MAIN

The construction of a big water main from Fourteenth street to the proposed site of the national army cantonment, ten miles distant, at Silver Lake, was definitely decided upon this week when the chamber of commerce guaranteed to the United States government that this would be done in addition to the inauguration of water pumping improvements.

A delegation consisting of Ivan E. Allen, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; J. N. Hazlehurst, William J. Davis, president of the city water board, and Zode Smith, superintendent of Atlanta's waterworks, left for Washington Tuesday to give war department authorities the personal assurance that the proposed Silver Lake cantonment would be amply supplied with water.

NO LABORERS NEEDED FOR KANSAS HARVEST

Laborers from the section east of the Mississippi river need not go to Kansas this year in the hope of finding employment in the wheat fields there, as the shortage in the wheat crop this season renders outside aid unneeded, according to a circular issued by P. J. McBride, director of the state free employment bureau, of Topeka, Kansas.

"Kansas will this year harvest the smallest wheat crop it has had for years," says the circular, "and only one-fifth of the regular number of laborers will be needed. Kansas will be able to handle the crop with men coming from states that surround it. It would be folly for anyone to come from east of the Mississippi river."

TEN MORE ARRESTED IN BRIGHT LIGHT DRIVE

The police continued their campaign to enforce the dimmer ordinance last night, arresting ten alleged violators, in addition to the 68 arrested Monday night. Those arrested were given copies of charges, and most of them will appear in police court today. Chief Mayo announces that the drive against bright lights on autos will be continued until the law is strictly observed.

WARM, SUNNY WEATHER SCHEDULED TO CONTINUE

Weather indications for Atlanta and vicinity are that the dry spell of the past few days will remain undisturbed by moisture in any large quantities. Also, the weather will remain warm. In Atlanta the current temperature stands at 76 degrees, with a high and low variation of 12 degrees from early morning to afternoon. At the coolest period of the morning the temperature was 68 degrees.

AMUSEMENTS

Unusually Attractive Bill.

(At Loew's Grand.)

The current bill of Marcus Loew vaudeville being presented at the Grand is one of the most engaging in many months. It is headlined by the illustrious Marcello Johnson & Co., in a series of restricted songs specially written for Miss Johnson by a group of talented Broadway composers. The Three Rosellos, musical trio, is an act that cannot be forgotten, while Merkert & Bondhill, in nifty nonsense, present an offering that is far above the average. Hip Raymond, the clown who opens the show, comes to the Grand from an extended engagement at the New York Hippodrome, where, as in his present engagement, he convulsed thousands with laughter. The picture headliner is the eminent Robert Warwick, supported by Gail Kane and an exceptional movie cast, in "The False Friend," an intense dramatic production.

"The Rag Doll."

(At B. F. Keith's Lyric.)

McMahon, Diamond and Chaplow, a man and two stunning girls, last seen in Atlanta as a feature of "The World of Pleasure," are one of five big acts at B. F. Keith's Lyric today in their elaborately staged song and dance offering, "The Rag Doll." Hugo Janson, fashion criterion, and his celebrated models, appear in Fashions a la Carte, in which gowns are draped on lingerie-attired models as they stand before the spectators.

James Toney and Ann Norman, an eccentric comedy couple, who are among the best ever, also are on the program along with other such acts as the big Sig Franz troupe of novelty cyclists and the Soloines in a diverting musical treat. The new show starting Thursday will be featured by the big Mother Goose musical comedy, by Truly Shattuck and others.

Antonio Moreno.

(At the Strand.)

Antonio Moreno is the star at the Strand theater today and Thursday and appears in "The Magnificent Meddler," a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature. It is a comedy drama, but one that is full to overflowing with thrills. Mr. Moreno is cast as a society editor of an eastern newspaper who journeys to the wild and woolly west and becomes editor of a weekly publication.

The last reel, particularly, has much that is thrilling. The cabin where the paper is printed is set on fire by the bad element of the town, but immediately all hands combine in repelling a band of Mexicans come to capture the heroine. The various thrills which the subsequent chase provides are too numerous to enumerate.

Louise Glaum.

(At the Vaudette.)

Louise Glaum, who registered remarkable personal triumphs in "The Wolf Woman" and "Sweethearts of the Doomed," has another strong emotional role in "Love or Justice," the Triangle play at the Vaudette theater today and Thursday.

As an adventuress, she demonstrates that all women are much alike under the skin, particularly when love comes to them. She rescues a young attorney from the drug habit, and he offers to marry her, but, although she is in love with him, she refuses, because she is determined that he shall be successful in the world and knows that an alliance with her would ever blight his career. The climax is one of intense interest.

Enid Bennett.

(At the Odeon.)

Enid Bennett in her new Triangle play, "The Girl Glory," will be at the Odeon theater today and Thursday. Those who attend will be rewarded a "Hundred Fold," as it is the sort of play that revives one's spirits to the very highest degree. After seeing Miss Bennett in this picture you will wonder why the world has not more of her kind, for she accomplishes through her own efforts what millions are seeking to accomplish today by their concerted efforts.

She lives with her granddad in a small village. He is a veteran of the civil war and has a discriminating taste for discriminating beverages. This clever young lady figures out the way to cure him. It is all so perfectly natural that you wonder why it has not been thought of before.

"America Is Ready."

(At the Alpha.)

The great preparedness film, "America Is Ready," a picture which every red-blooded American should see, will be shown at the Alpha theater on Whitehall street today only. This picture shows all of the military forces of Uncle Sam, both on land and sea, men, guns and ships, and it will be an inspiration to every patriotic person to see the splendid preparations which are under way to combat Germany in the great world war. "Prison Without Walls."

(At Alamo No. 2.)

To secure the interiors of the prison workshops in the Lasky-Paramount production, "The Prison Without Walls," in which Wallace Reid and Myrtle Stedman will be seen at the Alamo No. 2 today, the company obtained permission to use the workrooms of a well-known penitentiary and the services of a number of guards and trusties. As this was the first time a motion picture had ever been enacted within its walls, the warden gave permission for as many of the good-record prisoners as possible to watch the filming of the scenes. The real prisoners lined up behind the camera out of sight and watched the stage prisoners perform.

A Far Better World After the War

People living at this time are fortunate above those of any previous period of the world's history.

Thoughtful men and women are conscious of a feeling of gratitude, almost of reverence, that they are permitted to witness—aye, to share in—the mighty events occurring with almost kaleidoscopic rapidity, and which seem destined to alter not only world maps and national governments, but to bring about fundamental and far-reaching changes in the very ideals and purposes of the world's greatest nations.

History is now in the making on a scale so immense and fraught with consequences so tremendous, as to fairly stagger imagination.

Unless the portents fail, this world after the war will be a very different place from the world which existed before the war.

And it will be a far better world.

There will be more of human brotherhood, and less of selfishness. The might of right will be more universally recognized among nations and among people, and peace and good-will shall rule in the place of tyrannous force.

Humanity will recognize its responsibility for its fellowman, and everywhere men's hands will be outstretched to relieve human weakness and suffering.

There will be more of community interest; more neighborliness; more co-operation with those around us. We shall buy from and sell to each other at fair and equitable prices, and shall see to it that no one lacks needed employment at a fair wage.

AND WE CAN BEGIN DOING OUR SHARE RIGHT NOW

We can buy from home manufacturers, and thereby furnish employment to thousands of home people—people whose lives touch our own in a hundred ways—thereby enabling those home people to buy from home merchants, who in turn employ other home people. And so on, in an endless chain of benefits, bringing the comforts of life to thousands of homes—all without a penny of extra cost to the original purchaser.

These are some home manufacturers whose products are well worth purchasing:

Bill Ellis Comes Back, Daubing Crackers White; Street Delivers Pinch Hit

By Blinkey Horne.

Nashville, Tenn., June 12.—(Special.) Bill Ellis, who was driven from the box in the second inning by the Crackers on Monday, came right back this afternoon and for nine rounds held the Frankmen scoreless. The score was 3 to 0, Bressler, after hurling beautiful ball in the early innings, weakening toward the close, when a walk, a passed ball and an infield out followed by a single put over the deciding run.

For seven innings both Bressler and Ellis were invincible. The Cracker southpaw provided the Vols with an opportunity in the third, when he walked the first two batters to face him, but quickly applied the brakes. A weird peg in the first by Picinich with but one down put a Vol on third, but the former Mackman swept aside both Kauffman and Knisely with ease.

Ellis, however, had a shade the better of the slab duel, not allowing a base on balls, while it was a pass which proved so fatal to Rube in the seventh. That and Pic's failure to clutch a shoot, with Art Kores on first, for Street's single to left would never have scored the Vol third-sacker from second base.

The Crackers had four chances to put across a run, but the muchly needed pinch hit was always missing. With both Ellis and Bressler traveling at a dizzy pace it seemed certain that a single run would decide the game, which fact spurred Howard Baker to a great peg to the plate in the fifth, which cut down Jake Munch by an eyelash.

Jake doubled with two out in that round, and Picinich jammed a single to right field. Munch came tearing in a second behind Baker's toss to Street, and the greatest scoring chance of the Crackers vanished.

Tom Reilly singled in the first inning with one out, but Roy Moran, to the amusement of Vol fans, hit into a double play.

In the sixth Rube Bressler beat out a lick to short as a starter and was sacrificed. Reilly and Moran skied out.

With two down in the ninth the Crackers started a feeble rally. Tom Reilly singled through the box and took third when Thrasher singled to right field, but Davis raised a tall fly to left.

With one in the seventh Art Kores waited for four bad ones and took second on a passed ball. Ellam's infield out sent him to third and Street's short single over Reilly's head scored the run needed to win. In the eighth Mayer made a circus catch on Ellis' line drive.

Singles by Baker, Kauffman, O'Brien and Kores gave the Vols two unnecessary runs.

Greensboro 12, White Plains 8.

Greensboro, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Greensboro defeated White Plains this afternoon in a very interesting game of ball by a score of 12 to 8. Milford Wheeler and Ed Reynolds starred for Greensboro. O'Neal pitched for Greensboro and Reynolds pitched for White Plains.

WHIFFS

That Big Inning.

THE CRACKERS undoubtedly made a record in the second inning at Nashville Monday, as was recorded in WHIFFS Tuesday morning, but in making note of it we overlooked one feature. Not a man was left on base when the inning ended, with seven runs across, eight hits and three men retired. That's what we call making hits count. There was not a wasted hit in the collection.

Dope Coming True.

CHARLEY FRANK had the right dope when he stated recently that the Birmingham Barons would be the team that the Crackers would have to beat if they were to win the pennant. The Barons have been traveling at a fierce clip of late and are now but a scant margin behind the locals. Moley has had a good club since the start of the season, but they were slow rounding into condition, and his pitchers did not give the greatest amount of effectiveness either. But of late the club seems to have straightened out and should be dangerous the rest of the way.

On Scouting Trip.

WHO SHOULD we hear from yesterday but our old friend Sir Mique Finn, the Knight of the Signs. Sir Michael is doing scouting duty for the Detroit Tigers and the genial Irishman will shortly be in our midst once more. Mike is coming over this way to give the South Atlantic and Dixie leagues the once-over, searching for ivory.

Quite a Stir.

PAUL MUSSER, former Cracker twirler, who is now in the Western league, is creating quite a stir in those diggings. The opposing managers claim that Paul has some kind of a delivery that is illegal and have confiscated several balls and sent them into the league prexy for his inspection. But as yet they have been unable to prove anything on the ex-Cracker and he goes along his winning ways leading the pitchers of the league.

Choke His Bat.

AS A SUGGESTION to one Samuel Mayer, cavorting in the middle meadow for the Crackers, we would like to ask why he does not choke his bat? It is our humble opinion that if Sammy would choke his bat, chop at the ball more and cut out the wild swings that he would hit close to .300 in this league. And Sammy Mayer hitting .300 would be the most valuable outfielder in the league. If he carries out this suggestion, Mayer would also find the opposition crossed up at all stages. The outfield plays in the second trenches for him now, and rightly so, because Sammy is always trying to hit the ball out of the lot. A little mixing of the two styles of hitting would catch every one flatfooted.

Overlooking Him.

TALKING to one of the Southern league umpires the other day, he handed us a tip that would be a good one for the Southern league club owners to remember. "I can't see," said this umps, "why Southern league clubs will send up to the big leagues and get some players to manage their club when they have a man right in their midst who would fill the bill admirably. I am speaking of Umpire Breitenstein. He knows the game from every angle now, has seen every side of it, and if given a chance by some Southern league club I believe he would turn out a winner." This suggestion certainly reasons well. Old Breit has certainly had the experience and we believe would have the ability as well.

A Great Trip.

IF THE CRACKERS break even at Nashville, and they certainly ought to do that, the locals will certainly have had one of the greatest road trips any Southern league team has ever shown. Any team that can travel over .600 per cent on the road is a team that must be feared by the opposition, especially as it has been cripples and is now coming home for a twenty-two-game home stay—then—watch out.

BRIEF MAKING GOOD FOR PIRATE CLAN

Everybody stop talking while Mr. Bunny Brief takes the floor. Bunny, be it known, is doing his darndest to hold down the first sack for the Pirates. And thereby hangs a tale. (Not by Bunny, but by the Pirates' first sack.) Since Kitty Bransfield, now a National league umpire, held the first base job for the Pittsburg team, there have been 20 other players who have tried their hand at the job and failed. Bunny seems to be making good, too. He has been a near major league player for several years. He played first base for the Salt Lake club of the Pacific league in 1916, and in 195 games had a batting average of .314. He has had a whack at big league playing before this, but somehow or other didn't come up to expectations. Barney Dreyfuss, however, believes that Brief has "arrived" and will make good with the Pirates. The price for Brief's release is $6,000.

March	24.15	24.28	23.63	23.96

New York, June 12.—The cotton market showed renewed activity and excitement today, with many bullish predictions realized when July contracts sold up to the 25-cent level. Very sharp reactions followed the early advance, but a good part of the losses were recovered, July closing at 24.92, while the general list closed very steady at a net advance of 48 to 62 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 31 to 65 points and the active months sold 58 to 65 points net higher before the end of the first half hour on a renewal of the recent buying movement. The demand was stimulated by the sensational strength of Liverpool, while there was active buying here by houses with Liverpool connections. This first advance carried July up to 25 cents and October to 24.69, prices which attracted more or less general profit-taking. Offerings were absorbed on a reaction of about 20 points during the middle of the morning, and the market firmed up again, with July selling back to the 25-cent level, while later months made new high ground, October advancing to 24.55 and December to 24.70 with the general list showing net gains of 58 to 70 points. The market then weakened under renewed profit-taking, with the selling promoted by reports of an easier spot basis and talk of hedge selling around the local ring. July broke to 24.42, or back to last night's closing price, while October sold off to 23.97 and December to 24.12, or more than half a cent from the best level.

Offerings then tapered off and the market rallied sharply late in the afternoon on covering and a renewal of trade buying. The high temperatures reported in the southwest were considered favorable, but the weather map seemed to be attracting very little attention and the interest of traders was evidently monopolized by the technical position and the strength in Liverpool. One of the private cables received here said that Liverpool had been advanced by shorts covering, a good spot demand and apprehensions of an insufficient supply. Reports that the goods market was advancing with raw material were also a factor on the advance, but at times during the day the demand attributed to trade interests was less in evidence. Port receipts, 15,236. United States port stocks, 860,344. Exports today, 8,575, making 4,980,731 so far this season.

Spot quiet; middling, 25.00. Sales, 784,000.

In New Orleans.

New Orleans, June 12.—Another sensational advance was seen in cotton here today and the rise carried July contracts to 25 cents a pound, a level predicted some time ago by extreme bullish traders, but not generally thought probable until lately. A remarkably strong Liverpool market forced prices up here on the opening to the extent of 64 to 105 points, July being the strongest month. January showed the least gain, but subsequently the rise on that month was widened to 71 points.

Heavy realizing met the advance, and after a period of hesitation, during which the market recovered fairly from its reactionary breaks, there was a pronounced downward movement, at the bottom of which the weakest months were 2 to 3 points under the level of yesterday's close. The tone improved on the close, which was officially called very steady, and last prices for the day showed a net gain of 33 to 37 points. From the highest to the lowest on July there was a fall of 107 points.

Spots shared in the advance, quotations being raised one cent a pound to 24 cents for middling. Both spots and futures made new high levels. Considering the range over which the market moved and the high price levels reached, it was a very tame session, trading, except on the initial bulge, being attended with no great excitement.

Spot cotton steady one cent up. Sales on the spot 1,810; to arrive 1,714. Good ordinary 22.62; strict good ordinary 23.12; low middling 23.62; strict low middling 23.81; middling 24.00; strict middling 24.19; good middling 24.37; strict good middling 24.55. Receipts 6,079; stocks 215,035.

Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—Spot cotton broke all records in Savannah since civil war times today, when good middling, basis of local trading, was posted at 25 cents per pound. This price drew sales of only 273 bales, and the tone was posted steady. The circumstances brought forth many strong predictions of a 30-cent market.

Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., June 12.—Spot cotton today jumped 100 points here. Yesterday's close was 22.75. Today the quotations reached 23.75. There were no sales.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, June 12.—(Special.)—The cotton market opened 40 points higher, although Liverpool was on the average about 90 points better than expected. There was large buying for Liverpool account as well as orders for the domestic trade and contracts sold at record prices. The Liverpool market was undoubtedly affected by press dispatches that the submarine losses were again becoming heavy and to fear that their stocks would not be sufficient unless cotton was shipped there. Our market continued nervous during the entire session. Towards the close profit-taking on an extensive scale brought about a fair reaction. Southern spot quotations at several important points were advanced a cent a pound. Weather conditions do not show any decided improvement and some complaints were received from the western and southwestern parts of Texas of high temperature causing damage to vegetation.
J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, June 12.—(Special.)—Our sensational advance yesterday was surpassed by the advance in Liverpool today of over 2 cents a pound. The interruption to the export of cotton caused by the use of tonnage for purposes, such as food and the transport of our troops, has prevented Liverpool from obtaining cotton from the south. It is estimated that each soldier will require four tons of shipping to keep him supplied, or the room for 16 bales of cotton. Our market met fresh realizing on the advance here of sixty points, with transactions after the opening less in quantity. Weather conditions continue favorable for the crop. The outside public is confident of higher prices. This market is near a deliverable basis from the south. July has lost some premium by long selling. Inquiries are coming from the south as to the cost to deliver on contracts here.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, June 12.—After advancing 6 to 12 points on scattered buying induced by the strength in cotton, the market for cotton seed oil turned easy under liquidation, prompted by the heaviness in kindred products and slow trade demand. Final prices were 1 point higher for November and 2 to 8 points net lower for the balance. September sold from 16.57 to 16.40 and closed at 16.42. Sales, 52,900 barrels. Prime crude, 14.67, nominal.

Futures ranged as follows:

Spots	....	16.00 bid
June	16.30 bid	16.30@16.45
July	15.61@15.62	14.48@16.50

Tone, easy.

Coffee.

New York, June 12.—The market for coffee futures was quiet but generally steady again today with December contracts selling up to 8.12, or 5 points above last night's close and about 15 points above the low level of last Thursday. The general list opened unchanged to 1 point higher and sold about 4 to 5 points above last night's closing figures during the middle of the day on scattered covering, which seemed to be prompted by the continued light Brazilian receipts and relative steadiness of the primary market. The close was a shade off from the best under realing with prices net 1 point lower to 4 points higher. Sales, including exchanges from July to later months, were 26,000. June, 7.86; July, 7.90; August, 7.95; September, 7.99; October, 8.02; November, 8.05; December, 8.08; January, 8.13; February, 8.18; March, 8.24; April, 8.29; May, 8.34.

Spot quiet; Rio sevens, 10c; Santos fours, 10¾c.

No fresh offers were reported in the cost and freight market from Santos. Rio sevens were said to be here at 8⅝, American credit. Freight rates from Brazil to New York are quoted at 84 cents to $1.00 per bag.

The official cables reported a holiday at Rio. Santos spots were 100 reis below the last quotation and futures unchanged at 25 reis lower. Brazilian port receipts 10,000; Jundiahy, 3,000.

Sugar.

New York, June 12.—The local market for raw sugar was quiet again today, and, as there were no sales of Cubas reported, prices were nominally unchanged. The only business reported was 7,000 bags of Porto Ricos for July shipment at equal to 5.77 for centrifugal, and, while refiners were not openly bidding for Cubas, it was thought possible they would pay 4⅝ cents for prompt shipment Cubas, but holders' ideas were above this level. The market closed at 4⅝c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 5.89 for centrifugal and 5.01 for molasses.

The demand for refined was still disappointing, with the country evidently supplied for the time being. Prices remained unchanged with all refiners now taking orders at 7.50 for fine granulated, one having reentered the market again today, taking business for city delivery at 7.60.

The quietness of both raw and refined was also reflected in futures, where sales for the day totaled only 6,700 tons. The opening was steady at 2 points advance for September, on covering prompted by the steadiness of the spot market and reports from Cuba that the rainy season had commenced. It was not until after midday that trading became a little more active, and when Cuban interests began selling prices slowly eased off, closing at a net decline of 2 to 4 points, or at practically the lowest of the day. July sold from 5.10 to 5.08, closing 5.07; September 5.22 to 5.12, closing 5.13; December 5.05 to 5.02, closing 5.01; January closed 4.73.

WHEAT IS BEARISH ON IDEAL WEATHER

Close Unsettled With All Grains Down as Reports of Perfect Weather Conditions—Scarcity of Cash Offerings Checked Decline.

Chicago, June 12.—Ideal weather conditions over the greater part of the wheat belt had a bearish effect today on prices. The outcome was an unsettled finish, 1 to 5c net lower, with July at $2.33 and September at $2.08. Corn closed ¼ to 3⅞c down, and oats off 1c to 1⅞c. Provisions wound up unchanged to 20c higher.

Welcome rain fell in the spring wheat region, whereas clear warm weather prevailed throughout most of the winter crop territory. Reports of increased arrival of wheat in Great Britain and of a liberal floating supply counted also against the bulls. Scarcity of cash offerings here and at other domestic centers, however, helped to check declines and to bring about at one time a decided rally.

Corn, like wheat, went down grade owing to better weather conditions. Crop reports from railroad and other sources were generally optimistic, although considerabe damage was said to have been done by excessive rains, especially on lowlands. Eager demand for immediate delivery of corn led, after midday, to a sharp bulge which, however, caused fresh realizing by holders and a renewed downturn of prices.

Oats ruled easier in sympathy with corn.

Provisions were in brisk demand. The stimulus appeared to be chiefly due to higher quotations in Liverpool and in the hog market here.

MONEY SITUATION HAS SOBER EFFECT

Trading Cautious Following Stiffer Money Rates. Bullish Enthusiasm Curbed—Liberty Loan Campaign More Hopeful.

New York, June 12.—Trading proceeded with greater caution today, a logical result of latest factors in the general financial situation. Foremost among these were the stiffer money rates. Call loans did not rise to their maximum of the previous day, ruling between 3½ and 4 per cent, but time accommodations hardened ½ of 1 per cent for most maturities.

The more conservative attitude maintained by local banks in accepting collateral for loans and a new minimum of 23.60 for Russian exchange were among the other incidents that served to take the keen edge off bullish enthusiasm. These were neutralized in part by a more hopeful feeling regarding the outcome of the Liberty Loan.

Prices were uncertain at the outset, but became firmer almost immediately, only to fall back before the end of the first hour. At midday another rally was in order, the movement attaining wider proportions on the strength of rails.

Transcontinentals, grangers, coalers and minor western and southwestern issues figured among the active rails at extreme gains of 1 to 2½ points. Pacific Mail featured the steamship shares at a further advance of 2 points.

Dealings dwindled on the rebound, the rise evidently failing to evoke outside interest. Best quotations were made in the final hour, but the movement was again subject to profit-taking at that stage.

United States Steel, which fell to 129⅛ on the liberal offerings of the forenoon, rallied to 131¼ and closed at 130⅝, a net gain of ⅜ of a point. Bethlehem Steel new stock and Lackawanna Steel made extreme gains of 1½ to 3 points, and Savage Arms, one of the inactive munitions, made a net gain of 8 points at 88.

Industrial Alcohol and United Cigar Stores were among the strongest issues at the finish, the former making up much of yesterday's severe decline. Motors, oils and sugars were backward throughout the session. Total sales amounted to 775,000 shares.

Bonds were inclined to droop, prices showing some irregularity, with low-priced convertibles. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,450,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call, but the coupon 3s fell ⅜ per cent on a single sale.

(L. P. Alford, in Industrial Management.)

Think for a moment of the efforts that some skilled industrial executives must have put forth in order to train these unskilled men and women for productive work in the industries of our allies! And think also that it is very probable a similar gigantic task faces the men of industry and technology in the United States.

Real Protection for Your Building

THE Underwriters' Laboratories placed Carey Roofing on their list of approved building materials because it is an actual protection against fire. A building roofed with it is a good risk.

Heat does not cause Carey Roofing to crack or open up. It does not spread fire from one part of the building to another. Sparks falling on it burn themselves out without doing any real damage to the roof.

Carey Roofing

is a combination of high-grade weather and fire-resisting materials. The flexible asphalt cement body is tempered by a scientific treatment. Because of this unusual feature Carey Roofing has withstood the severest tests under all conditions for more than 30 years.

We are here to give you this protection. Specify CAREY when ordering roofing for your new buildings or when you get ready to have your old buildings made weather-tight and fire-resisting.

MARINE OFFICERS BUY LIBERTY BOND

Boy Scout Finds Ready Purchasers in Local Recruiting Force—Lieut. H. R. Kellar Ordered to Sea Duty.

In addition to serving their country on the firing line, members of the recruiting forces of the United States Marine corps, from Lieutenant Harold Colvocoresses, in charge of the local station, to Corporal Osborne Hill, are doing their bit in still another way, and are setting a fine example for the citizenry of Atlanta in doing it.

From little Jack Sharpe, Boy Scout, five members of the recruiting party Tuesday purchased a Liberty Bond and showed Atlanta that the army and navy are ready to serve their country in every possible way. Other members of the recruiting force who were not at the marine office Tuesday when Jack called bearing his application blanks, announced later in the day that they also would swell the list of bond purchasers.

The big drive of the marine corps is rapidly gaining momentum, and with the flag day parade and the additional features promised for the rest of the week, it is expected to develop an immense headway in gaining recruits for the sea-soldier service.

Lieutenant H. R. Kellar, in charge of the navy recruiting office, has received orders to report for sea duty, according to information given out Tuesday. He will be succeeded by Lieutenant John H. Atkinson, retired, who has been for some time attached to the local office. Lieutenant Atkinson is a Georgia boy, hailing from Brunswick. He was a member of the class of '05 of Annapolis.

MORE VOLUNTEERS NEEDED TO HELP IN RELIEF WORK

The Red Cross relief work is going along as smoothly as can be asked. Hundreds of people are daily being aided by this work in starting their homes anew. More workers are still needed in the relief clothing rooms at 58 North Pryor street. All those who have subscribed to the relief fund are urged to send their subscriptions as soon as possible, as this will greatly facilitate the work. The class will meet again on Friday afternoon, June 15, at 3 o'clock, at Room 701, Gould building.

MILTON H. SEWELL, MAN INDICTED, NOT MIKE H.

There are two M. H. Sewells, both employees by the Georgia Railway and Power company, and both from Coweta county. Some days ago, it was reported, that M. H. Sewell, an employee of the local railway company in the capacity of conductor, had been indicted by the federal grand jury for white slavery.

Now comes M. H. Sewell, of the same company, who states that he was never before a federal grand jury, and desires that his friends be notified thereof. The difference between them is that Milton H. Sewell was indicted, and Mike H. feels that he has received more than his part of the odium of it. The indicted Sewell is but 23 years of age, while Mike Sewell has been a peace-loving citizen for something like 43 years.

FABULOUS FORTUNES IN OIL

Fountains of Liquid Gold Now Flowing in the South

The present is truly the age of oil, in which this LIQUID GOLD is making greater riches, for greater numbers, in shorter time than any other industry.

$100,000 Grows to $100,000,000—The Texas Co., starting with $100,000, after paying annual dividends of millions, has assets estimated at $100,000,000.

$6,000,000 Dividends Last Year—The Producers Oil Co., much younger than the Texas, paid $6,000,000 dividends last year.

$30,000 Grows to $6,000,000—Beginning with only $30,000 three years ago, the assets of the Farmers Petroleum Co. are now over $6,000,000.

$490 Annually For Every $1—The Paraffin Co. has paid annual average dividends of $490 on every $1 of original capital.

These are Southern Companies, and last year three Southern states produced practically TEN TIMES as much oil as Pennsylvania and Ohio combined, evidencing the fact that this great wealth-producer has shifted its center of operations to the South.

We have acquired a large body of the richest oil land in the South, on both sides of which oil has been found. The most famous geologist in the U. S., after thorough and exhaustive investigation, says:

"It should prove to be the BEST oil field the world has ever seen. Practically every acre of the several hundred is underlaid by a vast field of oil destined to yield MILLIONS OF DOLLARS to investors."

If you want to share in these millions on a STRICTLY GROUND FLOOR BASIS, that protects you ABSOLUTELY against the possibility of loss, communicate with us AT ONCE.

Many of the best men of Georgia have visited, investigated and invested in, this proposition.

WHEN you want anything, make the appeal "human." For instance, if you are out of a job, and looking for one, individualize your solicitation in the want ad section of The Constitution in a whole-hearted style. Make the ad a few words or a few lines longer. If you are technically equipped, go into details. If you can render a certain line of expert services, say what you can do from the shoulder out. How is the man who is looking for you going to know what sort of an individual you are if you don't tell him? You can oftener miss interesting an interested employer if you say nothing much to interest him. You might have the qualifications he is right now in search of; but he is not a mind reader, and if you do not "wise him up" you can't blame the want ad for not bringing you anticipated results. If you need any help in writing out your want ad, let us know it. We have an expert employed for this very purpose; to help our advertisers help themselves. Don't hesitate to ask for this service. PLEA FOR MRS. GODBEE HEARD BY GOVERNOR Clemency Recommended by the Trial Judge, Jury and Prosecuting Attorney.

Governor Harris heard the plea of Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee for pardon on Tuesday and now has the case under advisement.

The petition of Mrs. Godbee, who is serving a life sentence at the state prison farm for the murder of her former husband and his third wife in the postoffice at Millen, Ga., several years ago, was based on the following principal grounds:

Mrs. Godbee is in ill health and probably will not live long if she continues at the state farm.

The trial judge and jury recommend her pardon.

The prosecuting attorney recommends her pardon.

The grand jury, which indicted her, recommends the pardon.

The state prison commission recommends her pardon.

There was no opposition to the petition before Governor Harris Tuesday.

Mrs. Godbee was represented by Judge John T. Allen, of Milledgeville; Judge Thomas L. Hill, of Savannah, and E. K. Overstreet, of Sylvania. Mrs. Charles B. Griner, of Kansas City, daughter of Mrs. Godbee, who has constantly waged the fight for her mother's freedom, also pleaded with the governor for favorable action upon the petition.

The hearing was also attended by three sisters and two brothers of Mrs. Godbee—Mrs. Clara Barger, of Augusta; Mrs. F. T. Barger, of Augusta; Mrs. Julia Edwards, of Butler; F. W. Perkins, of Hepzibah, and G. G. Perkins, of Perkins.

Girl Volunteers Have Almost Finished Big Registration Lists

Mayor Candler was high in praise of the work done by the women volunteers in copying and listing registration cards yesterday.

The work of the women is about complete now, announced Miss Cora Buckmaster, who is doing the work under the auspices of the National League for Women's Service, of which Mrs. W. L. Peel is chairman.

Scores of girls have given their time to copying the 19,000 registration cards. All of this work has been completed, and the originals have been arranged alphabetically, according to the precincts in the city. A typewritten list of each precinct's cards is being made, and this work will be completed this morning.

CAR DYNAMITING CASE GOES TO JURY TODAY

The case of J. R. Bryant, the accused street car dynamiter, in the attempted walk-out on the Georgia Railway and Power company lines last September, will be given to the jury this morning.

All but the final argument of the defense was presented to the jury yesterday afternoon when court was adjourned. The chief witness for the state was J. L. Wilson, a striker and confessed dynamiter, who is now under a ten-year sentence. He charged Bryant with having taken part in dynamiting a Central and Woodward avenues car in October when the attempted walk-out was at its height.

The defense declined to submit evidence.

Bryant pleaded not guilty, however. The defense is represented by Attorneys Frank A. Hooper and Ernest A. Bentley. The prosecution is conducted by Attorneys Robert P. Jones and Walter Daley, assisting Solicitor General John A. Boykin.

NO BILLS RETURNED IN ANDY BRAY CASE

The effort to indict Andy Bray, a youth widely known here, on the charge of having fraudulently obtained money from Chicago on the name of Hugo Constanti, the German spy suspect, failed yesterday before the Fulton grand jury, when two no-bills were returned.

It was charged that Bray, who was a prisoner in the same cell when Constanti was first imprisoned as a spy suspect, elicited from Constanti the name of a Chicago source of funds for the alleged spy. Upon gaining freedom, so it was claimed by the office of the solicitor general, Bray forged the name of Constanti to a telegram to the Chicago person, requesting $100, which he is alleged to have received.

The evidence presented before the grand jury, however, failed to bear out the contention.

DENIES THAT VETERANS GOT SHABBY TREATMENT

Dr. J. W. Peek, of Camp Stonewall Jackson, United Confederate Veterans, who has just returned to Atlanta from the confederate reunion at Washington, vigorously denies the report that the veterans were ill treated while in the capital. The veterans were provided with the best of everything, he says, and as soon as it was found that anything was lacking in the way of food or lodging the citizens of Washington responded nobly and provided everything that was needed for the old soldiers' comfort and entertainment.

CITY WILL NOT REFUND FOR PAVING BY CITIZEN

Mayor Candler vetoed a resolution yesterday to refund A. B. Buehl for the city's share of paving West Thirteenth street 125 feet west of West Peachtree street.

In vetoing the bill the mayor said:

"This is an unfair policy, for only streets would be paved where the property holdors abutting thereon could afford to advance the money to the city for the work."

Suicide at Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Holding a small mirror before his face to see how to wield the razor, Freeman Mathews, a grocer, cut his throat from ear to ear this morning. His wife found him in a pool of blood, dying. The jugular vein and windpipe were both severed and death came quickly. Mathews had been ill and despondent.

GRAND WILL REVIVE SCREEN-STAGE RIVALRY

Violet Mersereau Recruits for Army and Liane Carrera for Marines.

Violet Mersereau, the Universal moving picture star, will visit Atlanta Thursday, where she will appear at the Grand theater, and incidentally will aid enlistments for the United States army.

This is the first personal appearance in Atlanta of Miss Mersereau.

Liane Carrera, a native Frenchwoman, and gifted daughter of the illustrious Anna Held, is appearing at the Grand on the same day Miss Mersereau will present herself to Grand patrons. She is plugging heart and soul for the marines, traditional rivals of the army.

Miss Mersereau, in addition to other stunts, will get out on a lavishly decorated truck, adorned with flags, bunting, posters and soldiers, and deliver corner speeches to stimulate army enlistments. Miss Carrera will take command of a special squad of marine corps Thursday and Friday nights in a series of spectacular drills performed on the stage of the Grand at 9 o'clock. In addition, she will deliver a brief recruiting address.

AUDIENCE IS CHARMED BY "LA DANSE DE VIE"

Words cannot adequately express the beauty of the performance of the "La Dance de Vie" staged at the Atlanta theater last evening. If you were so fortunate as to be there, you know what it was, but if you were not there it can be said that you missed one of the most beautiful and artistic performances produced in Atlanta. The performance was for the benefit of the Red Cross work room and attracted an audience that filled the orchestra of the Atlanta theater. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the pupils of Mrs. W. C. Spiker's school of pantomime and interpretative dancing. That Mrs. Spiker has produced some remarkable dancers was shown by the performance of last evening.

In act one the solo dances of Miss Evelyn Lovett and Miss Tinsley Harrison were very pleasing. Also the dance trios and duets. The violin solo at the close of the first act by Miss Bess Voorhees was exquisite.

In the Cherry Blossom dance of the second act one could almost scent the cherry blossoms of Japan wafted on the breeze. The work of Miss Ruby Terrell in this dance was a thing of beauty. The solo dance of Miss Anna Mae Coleman was enthusiastically received. In the sea dance one was almost able to sense the cold clamminess of the waves and the swish of the sea as it broke on some stony beach.

One of the "cutest" dances of the performance was the "Dance of the Nymphs." The work of little Miss Margaret Van Epps brought forth storms of applause. She might be called the star of the entire performance if one had to be chosen. The "Dance Oriental" called to one's mind the symbolism of ancient Egypt or some other Oriental country. The dance of Miss Margaret Vaughn was especially striking in this scene. The Greek dance was exquisite in its daintiness. Misses Gertrude Kelly, Sarah Wagstaff, Anna Mae Coleman were the principals in this scene. Miss Elisabeth Little's "Mignonette" was very beautifully done. Probably the most gorgeous spectacle of the evening was the "Gypsy Dance." The costume and work of Miss Frances Ellis were both very striking.

Little Miss Elizabeth Leopold did a most dainty solo dance as the "Trifler."

In part 3 the "Spirit of Sorrow" was very realistic. Mrs. Spiker's reading was forceful and touching, reaching the hearts of all of her hearers.

The "Dance of Peace" was the most beautiful part of all the performance. The performance was closed after an exquisite piece of work by Miss Regina Rambo, by Miss Adrienne Battey, who made a very beautiful Liberty, while the orchestra played the "Star Spangled Banner." Others in the production were: Misses Mary Barnette, Virginia Carter, Katherine Erwin, Sarah Kelly, Margarite Cochran, Frances Powell, Sara Horine, Frances Wright, Sarah Wagstaff, Marion Kreigshaber, Jennie Johnson, Margaret Vaughn, Winifred Bell, Ernestine Hirsch, Margaret Cochran, Aline Fox, Sarah Schlesinger, Eleanor Smullion, Moselle Mills, Madeline Ward Annette Visanska, Beatrice Hirsch, Elizabeth Leopold, Charlotte Meadow and Masters Franklin Carter and Stanly B. Matthewson.

STATE ROAD FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

Sum of $128,059 Divided Among the Counties, as Against $96,000 Last Year. Fulton Gets Only $775 of This Amount.

Secretary of State Phil Cook has turned over to State Treasurer W. J. Speer the apportionment of the state road fund for 1917, accruing from the state automobile license tax, and checks will be mailed out to the several counties within the next day or so.

The total road fund available this year ,and which is now to be distributed, is $128,059, as against $96,000 for 1916.

The apportionment of this fund to the several counties is made on a basis of the total umber of miles of public road in each county outside the corporate limits of towns and cities. This total amounts to 78,322 miles.

Tabulation by Counties.

The following is the tabulation of the road mileage reported by each county and the apportionment which each county receives upon a basis of this mileage:

BY 8 TO 4 POLICE BOARD VOTE BEAVERS NEW TRIAL

again considered, acted upon and accepted the refusal of said Beavers to report for duty and did then and there on said date, assembled as an executive body, discharge the said Beavers from the police force; be it further

"Resolved, That the said James L. Beavers, both by his own voluntary action and by the official action of this board, has disposed of the charges heretofore lodged against him and leaves nothing further for this board to do in the premises.

"Be it further resolved, That for the reasons mentioned above the said matter is laid upon the table."

Key Demands Trial.

Before the chairman of the board called upon the counsel for the city and for the defense to state whether or not they were ready for trial, Commissioner Vernoy rose and asked James L. Key, counsel for Beavers, whether or not the result of the trial about to take place would be accepted as final by Beavers, or whether the case would again be dragged out to another trial, in case his client was not reinstated.

"All we want, Mr. Vernoy," said Mr. Key, "is a fair and square trial before this board of police commissioners, and when we receive a fair trial we will be satisfied."

"What would you consider a fair trial, Mr. Key?" the commissioner asked, "the reinstatement of Beavers?"

"No," said the attorney.

"Then who is to be the judge of whether or not we give you a fair trial?"

"My client will be the judge of that, sir," said the attorney.

Mayor Candler rose to a point of order and demanded the opinion of the assistant city attorney upon the course the board should pursue. Attorney Hewlitt stated that he held the position that Beavers was no longer a member of the police force; that the board as an executive body possessed the ministerial power to discharge any member of the force without trial, and that as he held this position, he felt that he should not try the case.

"I would rather that the city attorney, Mr. Mayson, handle the case," Mr. Hewlett said.

Barnwell's resolution, brought to a vote, showed the attitude of every member of the police board on the subject of whether Beavers was or was not due a new trial. The commissioners, voting to table the resolution designed to table the appeal for a new trial, were as follows:

Poole, Vernoy, Vaughan, Maddox, Styron, McCollough, Candler, Barnes.

For adopting the resolution:

Foster, Inman, Barnwell and McGee.

Would Not Serve as Captain.

Attorney for James L. Beavers stated to the board during the meeting that his client was not on trial to force the board of police commissioners to reinstate him as chief of police, but would serve wherever it was ordered that he serve. When asked directly as to whether Beavers was now willing to serve on the police force as a captain, Attorney Key replied that he would not.

"What we want," Mr. Key told the board, "is a vindication and an exoneration before the people—before the public."

Mayor Candler frankly stated that numbers of persons had come to his office and had told him that, if Beavers were reinstated, a snow shovel could not excavate politically the men who voted to reinstate him. Others had taken the opposite view, the mayor said.

"However, as to that," said Mr. Candler, "we are dealing with the people, with public opinion, and we must not forget it."

"Therefore, I feel that in all fairness, and in view of the fact that a judge of the superior court has given it as his opinion expressed in a legal instrument that this man is due a new trial, on no matter what grounds, it is only right that we should give him the new trial."

CHATHAM MAY BE DRY, BUT THIS SOUNDS FISHY

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—A sea-cow, otherwise known as a manatee, also called a dugong, a creature which looks like a cross between a walrus and an elephant, with a head like a cow, flippers like a seal and a tail like a beaver, described in Webster's as a "large aquatic, herbiverous animal," a beast which is as rare as good liquor now is in Chatham county, was shot and killed last week by F. A. von Eberstein near his farm on the Vernon river. Mr. von Eberstein had just finished a large dinner and was standing on the river's brink when he saw the sea-cow swimming up the stream toward him. Running to the house, he secured his shotgun and fired twice, using buckshot. The first shot caused the animal to churn up a high spout of water; the second hit it between the eyes and caused its death. It is the first sea-cow seen here since the bone-dry law went into effect.

Autoist Is Indicted.

Macon, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—The Bibb county grand jury today indicted Floyd Frederick, the young traveling man whose automobile struck and killed Bell Banks, an aged negro woman, last Sunday, while the car was running at a high rate of speed. The indictment charges involuntary manslaughter in the commission of an unlawful act.

MAJOR GUINN SPEAKS IN BOND CAMPAIGN

Nelson, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—In response to the request of President Wilson, that the Boy Scouts of America lend their aid in making the Liberty Bond issue a success, the Scouts of Nelson commenced their drive for subscriptions today, with the result that Liberty Bonds to the amount of $10,500, from sixty individuals, have been applied for to date.

Major R. J. Guinn, Atlanta's distinguished school commissioner, consented to come and give us a talk on the war situation. Our Scouts then supplemented their posters in regard to the Liberty Loan, with notices of a war lecture to be given at the school auditorium, which brought out everyone. We had on hand a plentiful supply of subscription blanks.

After Major Guinn had explained the things which led up to the war, and the conditions which faced this country in case we failed to do our part, ending his address with an appeal on behalf of the Boy Scouts and their Liberty Bond campaign, the audience commenced to "hit the trail" leading to the subscription desk, and the rest was easy.

Tonight was only the beginning. We expect to extend our lines and take in the towns of Ball Ground, Tate and Jasper in the next two or three days.

Chamber Plans Campaign.

Waycross, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Secretary J. S. Elkins, of the chamber of commerce, is outlining plans for an extensive membership campaign to be put on here in the near future. Much important work is ahead of the organization and the support of every property owner in the city and county will be enlisted.

ALL SAVANNAH BOATS MUST BE REGISTERED

Savannah, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—"... you have a boat, whether large or small, you had better register it," is the song Lieutenant Huger, in charge of the naval reserve district here, is singing to owners of boats in Savannah. Orders to register all boats in this section were received some time ago, but so far only about 100 of the 600 boats have been registertd. The order applies to all passenger steamers, yachts, motorboats, fishing and oyster schooners and every other kind of craft larger than a rowboat. In case the owner does not register, Uncle Sam will place upon the military and naval authorities the burden of prohibiting the use of boats by those who have failed to register.

Motion for new trial has been made and July 9 set for the hearing. The jury was out an hour and a half, the trial consuming two days.

THE most popular, likewise the most profitable, places of business are those where prosperity is evident by the comforts and conveniences provided for the public—the customers of the house.

It is more true, perhaps, of fans than of any other one feature, for people in this day and time do not pay a second visit to the store, the cafe or the amusement house that overlooks so important a matter as the comfort of its patrons.

Oscillating fans are best suited to large areas and crowded rooms. We have sizes and types for every possible use.
